Two Die In Plane Crash

By Don Allen

TWO Allentown-area men were instantly killed about 11:20 a.m. yesterday when their light plane crashed in a wooded field two miles south of Albrightsville.

William Weyhenmeyer of Lehighton, Carbon County deputy coroner, identified them as David F. Prong, 36, of 50 Magna Dr., Echo Manor, Coplay, and Charles Rothdeutsch, 44, 1410 Turner St., Allentown.

He said both men died of fractured skulls and multiple internal injuries. Prong was identified as the pilot.

The plane, a single-engine, two-seater Piper Cub, was owned by Conair Flying Club of Allentown and was based at Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

John Doster of Allentown, air safety inspector for the Federal Aviation Agency, inspected the wreckage yesterday afternoon and told newsmen a Civil Aeronautics Board investigator will join him in probing the cause of the crash today.

Francis Leyer of Albrightsville, a farmer, said he and his son-in-law were putting up no-trespassing signs when they saw the plane coming down.

Leyer said the engine seemed to almost stop when it reached the middle of the field, but the pilot gunned the motor and gained enough altitude to clear trees at the end of the field.

The plane started to circle, Leyer said, and was out of his sight when it crashed. He said he thought it was attempting to make a landing.

A State Police spokesman at the scene said it is possible the plane developed engine trouble while flying at a low altitude.

The area in which it crashed is covered by waist-high scrub oak. It is within about 100 yards of several grass-covered fields where the pilot might have made a more successful landing.

Weyhenmeyer released the bodies to the Garrett Funeral Home, Lehighton.

Later, Prong's body was taken to the Harvey R. Saylor Funeral Home in Catasauqua and Rothdeutsch's body was removed to the Schisler Funeral Home in Northampton.

The two men were on a pleasure trip, police said. They left the A-B-E Airport about 10:30 a.m.

The crash recalled a similar tragedy last Thanksgiving Day when three persons were killed in the crash of their privately-owned plane near the airport.

London Fears U.S. Pullback From Europe

LONDON (AP)—British officials awaited with foreboding arrival Friday of the U.S. economic mission now seeking ways of reducing the flow of gold and dollars from the United States.

News that the mission had failed to produce any major results in Bonn made gloomy reading in London.

Many British experts believe that, in the long run, the failure of the United States to get its European allies to shoulder more of the cost of Western defense will force Washington to begin a pullback of men across the Atlantic or take protective measures to the detriment of world trade.

Difficulties for Europe

Either step would present difficult problems for West Europe.

The 20-man delegation—headed by Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon—went to Bonn last Sunday and is now in Paris.

Due to arrive here by plane in midmorning, Anderson and Dillon will go promptly into conference with Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer John Selwyn Lloyd. They will be guests of Edward Heath, lord privy seal and No. 2 man at the Foreign Office, at a working lunch.

A Foreign Office spokesman told newsmen Thursday that no plans have been made yet for the two Americans to meet Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who just returned from a visit to Italy.

British officials, with their own balance of payments problem, do not expect Anderson and Dillon to bring forth any heavy demands for help from London.

Joint Problems

Instead the British expect to receive a report on the talk the Americans had with the West Germans and to discuss both the American and British problems.

The United States is running a $4 - billion deficit in overseas spending, accounted for by the massive economic and military aid flowing from Washington.

This has led to steps to check American spending, including a reduction in the next 18 months of the number of servicemen's dependents living overseas.

The United States now spends $700 million a year maintaining its forces in West Germany. The Anderson - Dillon mission asked Bonn to put up $600 million toward this defense cost.

Had the West Germans agreed, the British undoubtedly would have hopes to get more from Bonn themselves. Britain has been receiving $33.6 million a year from west Germany toward the maintenance of the British army of the Rhine. This support cost agreement was reached in 1958 and will expire in April.

Kasavubu Returns To Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu sought Thursday to hold together the Congo's Leopoldville garrison after the slaying of its commander, Lt. Col. Joseph Kokolo.

The popular Kokolo, 47, killed in the gun fight Monday between Congolese troops and U. N. forces at the Ghana Embassy residence, was largely responsible for keeping the 2,000-man garrison firmly behind Mobutu and President Joseph Kasavubu's pro-Western military regime.

(Kasavubu headed home from the U. N. in New York after assuring officials there he would advise within a week when it might be safe for a U. N. conciliatory group to visit the Congo.

Seven Killed

Six Congolese and one U. N. Tunisian soldiers were killed in the fighting Monday. The battle was touched off by the refusal of Ghana diplomat Nathaniel Welbeck to obey an ouster order from Mobutu. Welbeck flew home to Ghana Tuesday.

Kokolo's death caused a wave of violence against U. N. officials and increased tension in Leopoldville.

A senior U. N. official said, "There are some hotheads going round the army camp telling the men that Mobutu is too weak to be their commander now that Kokolo is dead. It is a potentially dangerous situation. Mobutu is doing everything in his power to keep it under control, but it is not an easy task."

Mrs. Kennedy Is Removed To Hospital

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A son was born Thursday night to President-elect and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy flew in here early Friday and was told that his wife had gone to a hospital to have her baby. He immediately ordered his plane aloft to return to Washington.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Georgetown University Hospital reported Thursday night that Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the president-elect, had been brought to the hospital by ambulance. She is expecting the birth of her second child in mid-December.

Kennedy spent Thanksgiving Day here with his wife and their daughter, Caroline, who will be 3 Sunday.

The president-elect left earlier in the evening for Palm Beach, Fla., to continue his post election vacation.

Pledges Foreign Aid

PARIS (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, vice president-elect, Thursday night pledged responsible continuity in American foreign policy and said this would build greater strength for freedom throughout the world under the incoming Washington administration.

Good Morning!

Girl Held Captive At Knifepoint

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — A sobbing 17-year-old Brainerd, Minn., girl told police Thursday she was kidnaped at knifepoint at 8 p.m. Tuesday near her home town library.

Virginia Major said a man forced her into a car and left her masked and tied for a 1,200-mile trip into western Montana.

Later, in a hospital for observation, she told a reporter there were two men and that she knew one of them and he released her from her bonds. Earlier, she had said she was not molested.

The sandy-haired Brainerd High School senior was taken to the hospital after she turned up in this university city early Thursday. She told police she had escaped by breaking the tape that held her hands and feet and jumping from her captor's car.

Death Toll Mounts Over Thanksgiving

By The Associated Press

A RASH of accidents claiming lives in multiple figures pushed the nation's Thanksgiving holiday death toll steadily higher Thursday.

The Associated Press counted 113 dead on the nation's highways and 18 dead in fires. Twenty-eight others perished in miscellaneous mishaps, for a total of 159 deaths before the first day of the four-day weekend had passed.

Fair weather throughout most of the nation attracted still more motorists onto the already crowded highways.

Four traffic accidents took 12 lives—three in each. One fire claimed four children. Two plane crashes killed five persons.

Three servicemen hitchhiking home for the holiday were fatally injured when the car in which they had accepted a ride was struck from the rear by a truck near Allentown, Pa.

Archbishop Denies Plotting With Reds

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Archbishop Francois Poirier was summarily banished from Haiti Thursday on a charge of financing Communists—an accusation he flatly denied at Miami on arrival of a plane he was hustled aboard at Port au Prince.

Plans were made here for him to fly Friday to his native France.

Haitian officials claimed the island republic's ranking churchman gave $7,000 to Reds who aim at overthrowing the government of President Francois Duvalier.

Speaking in French, Bishop Poirier said through an interpreter that the charges are "entirely false."

Bishop Poirier, 56, short, stocky and gray-haired, stepped off a Pan American World Airways plane wearing a white cassock and carrying only his passport. He told newsmen that was all he was allowed to take from Haiti.

The French-born churchman was met at Miami by the Most Rev. Coleman F. Carroll, bishop of Miami. Bishop Carroll held the interview to a minimum and then escorted the archbishop into an airport office where he said arrangements would be made for the prelate to fly on to Paris. The exile is a native of the province of Brittany.

The archbishop declined to disclose his plans beyond the trip to France.

The swift, secret expulsion of the highest Catholic official in Haiti climaxed a long dispute between the Catholic Church and the state—a dispute that has reached as far as the Vatican.

The immediate case involves a university student strike against detention of student leaders accused of communism.

Students were accused of plotting to overthrow the government of President Duvalier, and the archbishop was drawn into the case, the government said in a communique, by giving money to what it called student Communists.

President Duvalier, in a public appearance, made no mention of the deportation of the archbishop.

More than 6,000 partisans, businessmen and government employes marched through the streets during the day and crowded onto the national palace lawn in the afternoon in a show of loyalty to Duvalier.

ESHS Wins Turkey Day Game 48-6

By Curt Prins
Daily Record Sports Editor

FULLBACK Harold (Mach 2) Myers and halfback Brian Farris teamed for 27 points and 338 yards, as East Stroudsburg High School slammed Stroud Union 48-6 in the Inter-Borough Football Classic yesterday morning.

An over-flow crowd of 3,700 people at East Stroudsburg's Memorial Stadium saw Myers ram over from the six-yard line early in the first period to put the Cavaliers ahead 6-0 to start a seven-touchdown East Stroudsburg parade.

Myers gained 170 yards in 13 carries and Farris, who also was called 13 times, had 168 yards. The Cavaliers gained 421 yards on the ground to Stroud Union's 48. Myers had three touchdowns and three extra points, while Farris posted one touchdown.

The Cavaliers built a 21-0 halftime lead but Mountaineer quarterback John Baylor put his team on the scoreboard in the third quarter and riddled the East Stroudsburg pass defense for 190 yards.

Drive Failed

Baylor passed the Mounties to the Cavalier eight near the end of the first period but couldn't collect a score. The senior signal caller tossed a 58-yard pass to halfback Warren Loney and, aided by a brisk block by Freddy Frantz, Loney moved to the Cavalier eight. Only a diving tackle by Farris prevented Loney from scoring.

Faced with a first and goal on the eight, Baylor sent fullback Tom Schatzman straight ahead for one yard and then added three more on a rollout. Schatzman carried again to the two but on third down, Loney was stopped on the one by Earl Metzgar and the Cavaliers took over.

In two plays, Myers moved his club to the 26-yard line. He plowed off right tackle on his first carry and dragged four tacklers 19 yards before he was stopped.

It took East Stroudsburg only nine plays to score its first six pointer.

Bisbing Fumbles

Freshman Glen Bisbing fumbled the opening kickoff and Mike Boushell recovered for the Cavaliers on the Stroud Union 19.

Myers packed the ball five times in the drive, including the last three plays. The junior halfback also banged over for the extra point. The 21 points Myers collected, give him a season total of 76 points. Bob Kupeszewski holds the school single season point mark of 88, set in 1955.

Myers, who suffered a cracked rib in the Hellertown game three weeks ago, played with a large pad protecting the injured area.

He was banged on the rib rushing foran extra point after the second Cavalier touchdown and the pad was shaken loose. He threw a beautiful block on Baylor minutes later to break Farris open for a 26-yard gain but the unprotected rib was hit.

Myers was sidelined briefly but was back in action 10 plays later, when he returned an Ed Nevil punt 76 yards for a touchdown, only to have it called back when a teammate was detected clipping. Tackle Vince Patella also had a six pointer called back. He scooped up what at first appeared to be a Baylor fumble and rambled 35 yards to the en dzone. But it was ruled an incomplete forward pass not a fumble.

New Tape Job

Myers, who has not had any contact work since the injury, was taken out of the game after the punt return. At halftime the rib was retaped and the pad put back in place.

He carried the ball only four times in the second half, including back-to-back touchdowns.

East Stroudsburg's third touchdown came with 1:26 left in the half. Farris bolted off tackle for six yards for the score.

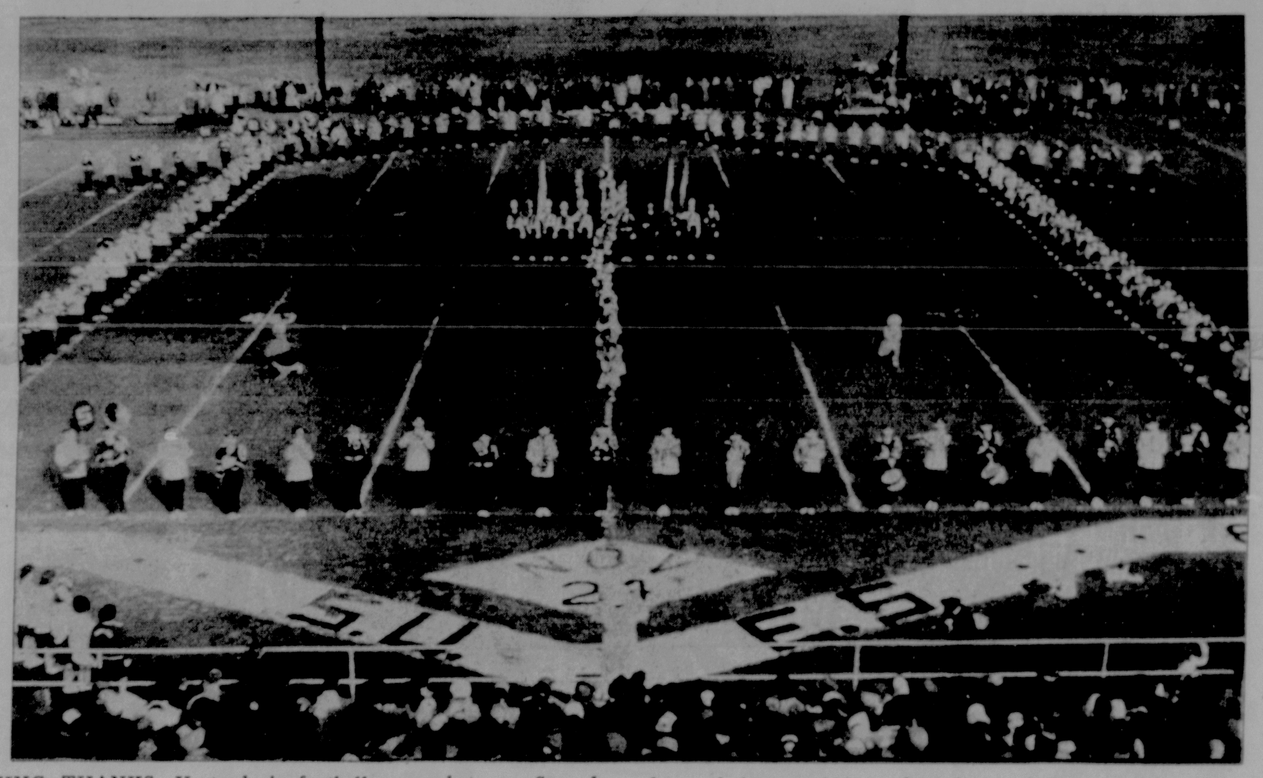

Stroud Union tried an on-sides kick to open the second half and might have pulled it off but the ball rolled out of bounds on the Eastburg 44.

Farris fumbled on the next play and Gary Reish recovered for the Mounties.

A Baylor to Bisbing aerial good for 19 yards, moved the ball to the Cavalier 15. A defensive pass interference call gave Stroud Union a first down on the Cavalier seven but on the next play Harry Van Vliet stormed in from his right end spot to throw Baylor for a seven yard loss.

Baylor, who connected on 14 of 30 tosses, followed with a short pass to Loney and then added a six yard toss to Bisbing, who took the ball on the four and moved into the end zone untouched.

GIVING THANKS—Yesterday's football game between Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg High Schools was marked by colorful half-time ceremonies by massed bands of the two schools. Shown above are the bands after they formed a large church in front of the crowded stands and played the traditional "Hymn of Thanksgiving." Americans Pause To Give Thanks

By The Associated Press

AMERICANS paused Thursday to feast and give thanks to God for a year's bounty.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower ate their Thanksgiving Day meal alone in the White House. Their son, John, and his family spent the day at the President's Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Also in Washington for family dinners were President-elect John F. Kennedy and the man he defeated in the last election, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson got his share of turkey in Paris, where he ate with American men serving at the U. S. Army's European headquarters.

There were some 400,000 U. S. servicemen and their dependents in Germany this year, and many shared the holiday with German friends and neighbors. Reports were plentiful of the soldiers' traditional generosity to orphans and old folk.

This year there were more than 2½ million in the armed forces, putting the usual strain on the quartermaster.

Military chapels abroad as well as churches in the United States again were filled with worshipers.

Beside the family turkey feasts in the United States, there were football games, visits and parades.

In New York the 34th annual Macy's parade was watched by an estimated total of 1.3 million men, women and children—mostly children and all bundled up against the 40-degree temperature.

The parade lasted 2¼ hours and featured a balloon figure called "The World's Happiest Dragon." It was 72 feet long, 20 feet high and 36 feet across, and it took 40 men with check lines to hold it.

Dressed as Pilgrims, residents re-enacted the first Thanksgiving at Plymouth, Mass., where the celebration started in 1621 among this nation's pioneers.

And there were some for whom the holiday provided little joy.

In Los Angeles, Cleta Nadine Samons and her three young children were taken in by the Salvation Army. Police hunted Lacy Samons, who had left for Oregon, hunting a job. A businessman, who heard of the family's plight, offered the father a job.

Soldiers Donate Skin So Burned Girl Might Live

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Army surgeons sliced seared tissue from the body of Peggy Roller Thursday and grafted on skin from three sergeants who underwent operations to give her a fighting chance to life.

The skin peeled Wednesday from the thighs of the enlisted men will act as barriers to infection while the 4-year-old girl's system builds up strength to replace the damaged flesh.

The hazel-eyed tot "tolerated the procedure very well," Capt. L. Q. Pugsley said after the two-hour operation.

Her condition as far as the skin graft is concerned is satisfactory, Pugsley said, although her overall condition remains serious.

Peggy, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Harry N. Roller of El Paso, was flown to the surgical burn center at Brooke General Hospital after a mysterious blaze seared 51 per cent of her body and burned off her dark hair Nov. 16 at the Roller home.

Her parents theorized she may have been playing with matches.

Without the skin grafts, doctors said, she would have no chance to recover. Now, her chances are a little less than even.

In the same ward, M. Sgt. William M. Goodloe, 45, of Earlington, Ky., Sgt. 1.C. Earl D. Bieler, 26, of Machias, Maine, and Sgt. 1.C. Harold S. Orff of Milo, Maine, were reported in fine shape after the operations in which Pugsley used an electric instrument called a dermatome to peel 128 square inches of skin from each man.

The enlisted men, with more than 46 years of service between them, watched football games on television and had turkey and trimmings for dinner.

By volunteering to donate skin to Peggy, the sergeants gave up Thanksgiving Day at home with their families, and will find movement slow and still painful during the Christmas and New Year periods.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Heavy rains touched off Thanksgiving Day floods in scores of western Oregon communities.

Attorney Slain In Courtroom

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A sand and gravel contractor has been booked on suspicion of murder after police said he killed one attorney and wounded two others in a wild courtroom shooting spree.

Bob Williams, 52, snapped angry remarks at attorneys during a land division hearing Wednesday and then pulled a .38-caliber pistol and fired wildly as witnesses, attorneys and a district judge tried to dodge the bullets.

Scientists Try To Fix Tiros Camera

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tiros II, the new weatherman satellite, was reported doing a good job Thursday in checking the heat balance of the earth.

Also the smaller of its two cameras was working well, while scientists tried to find out, and correct, what went wrong with the bigger one.

The bigger one, taking pictures of the earth's cloud cover over an area 800 miles square, was sending back photos that were too poor in quality to reveal much.

The little one covers a square 75 miles on a side in the center of the big one's field, but a wider area is needed to make it easier to spot just where on earth the camera was snapping pictures.

453 Miles Up

Tiros II was sent into orbit from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Wednesday.

Calculations now show its high point was 453 miles above the earth and low point was 387. Early estimates figured these at 431 and 406, whereas the desired orbit was about 400 miles.

Headquarters of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that the infrared experimental equipment carried by Tiros II was doing its job.

Other Business

In other business plans for an area project for the 1960-61 school year were formulated and each member was urged to enter products in the annual Penna. State Farm Show to be staged in Harrisburg during the week of Jan. 11 1961.

Plans were made to hold an area parliamentary procedure and public speaking contest during the month of April; tractor driving and rifle contests were planned for early 1961 and further plans for the state convention to be held on June 13, 14 and 15 at State College were outlined.

Refreshments were served to those attending by the Bangor Chapter hosts for the meeting.

Pleads Innocent Of Conspiracy

NEW YORK (AP) — Alexander L. Guterma pleaded innocent with five other men in federal court yesterday to charges of conspiring to sell 37,500 unregistered shares of United Dye and Chemical Corp. stock.

Guterma was brought here from the federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Ga., where he is serving a term of four years and 11 months for violations of the securities laws.

Judge William B. Herlands scheduled Dec. 12 for setting a trial date for Guterma and the others.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jerome J. Londin said the six conspired to violate the Securities Act of 1933 by selling $1 ½ million worth of United Dye common stock in 1955.

Women Voters League Plan Survey On River Basin

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters of the Stroudsburgs are preparing to take a survey of opinion from the members on the problems of the Delaware River Basin Development.

Action in the State Legislature is expected in 1961 on this topic that will affect Monroe County as well as areas of New Jersey, New York and Delaware.

The League of Women Voters of the Stroudsburgs are urged to come to consensus by Dec. 15, so that the feelings of the local league can be passed on to the State Board of League of Women Voters of Pennsylvania who will act for all leagues in Pennsylvania.

Unit Meetings

Three identical unit meetings have been arranged by the Water Resources Committee under the direction of Mrs. David Harriton, chairman. Members will be briefed on the geographic and economic picture, the engineers' report and the outlook for legislative action.

The unit meetings will be held Monday, Nov. 28 at 10 a.m., Pocono Art Center, Main St., Stroudsburg; Tuesday, Nov. 29, 1:45 at the home of Mrs. Frank Butler, 89 Brown St., East Stroudsburg and Wednesday, Nov. 30, 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. T. J. Breitwieser, 80 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg.

Members are urged to study booklets "Man and the River" and "Brief Survey of the Syracuse Report," and attend one of the unit meetings so that the consensus reached will be the voice of the entire local league.

Torquato Sworn In As Member

HARRISBURG (AP) — John R. Torquato, Cambria County Democratic leader and former secretary of labor and industry, was sworn in as a member of the State Securities Commission.

He was appointed to the $10,000-a-year post by Gov. Lawrence after the Legislature adjourned finally Nov. 14.

His appointment had been held up for months by the Republican-controlled Senate, whose confirmation is required while the Legislature is in session. His appointment will run until the end of the 1961 legislative session.

Torquato was fired as labor and industry secretary by former Gov. George M. Leader in 1957 because of Torquato's administration of a special fund.

ANSWER TO LAST WEEK'S FACT

There Were No Puritans On The Mayflower

The Dictionary of U. S. History confirms the fact that the Puritans were members of the Church of England who wanted to "purify" it — while the Pilgrims were separatists in sentiment. The Pigrms came over on the Mayflower.

First 100 Days

The fate of President-elect Kennedy's legislative program in the next Congress depends in large measure on whether the southern Democratic coalition with conservative Republicans maintains or loses its majority status.

The new President will be at the height of his power over Congress between his inauguration on Jan. 20 and Memorial Day. During these 100 days, members of Congress must lay it on the line.

Are they going to support or oppose the Kennedy policies?

Patronage, of course, will swing on their individual decisions. Every Democrat in the Senate and in the House will be expected to support his administration or suffer the consequences.

A majority of the party members can be expected to give the 100 per cent support that is expected. A minority will not.

The Democratic Party is a heterogenous party. It contains many conflicting elements. And much of the history of the Sixties will depend on the relative strength of the two factions—the liberal Democratic majority and the conservative Democratic minority.

Particularly in the first 100 days the overriding question will be: How many of the minority voices in the party can be muffled by the many pressures that will be brought to compel party unity?

Behind The Talks At Bonn

Very few nations, having lost a major war, have fared as well at the hands of the victors as has West Germany. This, of course, is because America, Britain, and France sensed the need of filling the postwar economic vacuum in Europe as a bulwark against communism. And Germany except for the zone still under Soviet domination, has made an extremely strong industrial comeback.

So strong, indeed, that the (West German) Federal Republic is one of the few nations in the world today having a highly favorable trade balance and a virtual excess of backing for its currency.

Meanwhile, the United States has come face to face with a situation in which it must reduce the outflow of payments which constitute a drain on its gold reserves.

This is why Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon are in Bonn conferring with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard and other West German officials.

The proposal Bonn has made to contribute to financial aid for underdeveloped countries is helpful; but in some respects even it does not go far enough. More should come from government budget sources which will ensure its continuance rather than in commercial loans which still might draw funds from New York.

In addition, Washington feels that West Germany should provide approximately $650 million a year to help defray the expense of maintaining American troops in Germany which are the backbone of that nation's defense in the absence of a fully reconstituted West German army.

It is probably desirable that any West German contribution to European defense costs be made to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but this would ease the American load.

The Adenauer government may be naturally reluctant to pledge large outlays with national elections coming up next year, but the needs and purposes involved are ones which Germans of all parties should understand and be willing to support.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Cabinet Speculation

Guessing about the Cabinet is no longer a game. Politicians are deeply concerned because they wonder what will happen to them in this curious election.

Businessmen are concerned because they wonder who will direct the Department of Justice which, during the Eisenhower Administration, violated both common sense and the economic interests of the country by anti-trust prosecutions which failed to recognize that we were no longer in the Administration of William Howard Taft.

Most of all, interest centers about the Secretary of State. Many names are being mentioned, among them Chester Bowles, Senator Fulbright, Adlai Stevenson, General Greunther, Dean Acheson and more. None of these have any political claims on President-elect Kennedy. They contributed nothing to his nomination or election.

Chester Bowles, it was once assumed, was sure in. The State Department has two major tasks before it: one, is the management of the American side of the Cold War; the other, is a total reorganization of the State Department which is an unusually incompetently organized and managed department of government.

Had Vice President Nixon been elected, it was his plan to organize a new department to supervise all Cold War activities with his Vice President, Henry Cabot Lodge, in charge. This would have left to the State Department routine matters and would have given any Secretary of State an opportunity to reorganize and rebuild his department.

Whether Kennedy will adopt some such plan is not known. Chester Bowles has often expressed his ideas concerning foreign affairs and is better informed about India, to which he was ambassador, than about the problems of the Cold War.

Senator Fulbright, as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, is, of course, well informed as to our foreign relations. Apart from that, his administrative abilities have not been on display.

Adlai Stevenson is naturally well known to the country. Twice a candidate for the Presidency, he has often expressed his views on foreign affairs.

He is liberal-minded and his language is fuzzy but it would appear that, on the whole, he is given to unconsciousness of the perils of the Russian territorial advances but has definite ideas as to what should be done in Latin America.

So we come to Dean Acheson, Secretary of State during the Truman Administration. Even his enemies admit that Dean Acheson is an excellent technician in international relations. Their objection to him is that he was soft on Red China and that he is responsible for the failure in Korea.

However, since Dean Acheson left the State Department, he has delivered addresses and has written articles which disclose that his understanding of the Cold War is sound; that his appraisal of Soviet Russia and the growth of the Soviet Universal State is sound.

It will perhaps astound Dean Acheson that many of those who formerly opposed him now regard him favorably.

Perhaps equal to the Secretary of State in importance is the Ambassador to the United Nations. He is daily on the firing line. He has to make trip-hammer decisions and his language affects relations immediately.

He must be forthright, experienced, wily and articulate. The best man this country has produced for this job is Henry Cabot Lodge.

While no man is indispensable, it would be a waste of talent not to employ Lodge — who is a Republican.

The next most important appointment is the Secretary of the Treasury. Many names are mentioned. Two tower above the rest, Eugene Black of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, and John J. McCloy who was our proconsul in Germany from 1949 to 1952 and subsequently became chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

These men understand international finance and the handling of the dollar. This Administration needs talent without regard to party or any other impediment.

The third most important appointment is that of Attorney General. This office has been managed unrealistically in recent years. It requires a mind that grasps the relationship of social and economic conditions in the United States to the law.

Its supervision of the courts should be tighter; its recommendations to the President regarding judges should elevate the judiciary by eliminating party politics.

Thus far, two names have appeared: Governor Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Robert Kennedy, the President-elect's brother and manager. Both are excellent men for this position.

The Pennsylvania Story

Henhouse Uproar

By MASON DENISON

HARRISBURG—When Pennsylvania's voters went to the polls Nov. 8 and in a fluke that's never before developed in the history of the Keystone State, set up the State Senate at 25 Democratic members, they unquestionably set the stage for a henhouse hoedown when lawmakers convene here in January for the 1961 session.

The big question of course is what to do to break the seeming tie—for the sake of approving or disapproving legislation—when it takes 26 votes.

There are those who insist the lieutenant-governor, as the constitutional presiding officer over the Senate, has that right . . . There are those who insist on the other hand that the lieutenant-governor's voting right in the Senate is limited to voting on non-legislative matters only, such as whether Republicans or Democrats shall have the 23 votes needed for "organizational" control—that is, choosing the president pro tem, setting up committees and that sort of "non-legislative" activity.

Because there never before has been an exact 25-25 tie, the question is most in the minds of many, but take a look at Article IV, Section 4 of the State Constitution which reads: "A Lieutenant-Governor shall be president of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided."

That one clause "unless they be equally divided" would seem to be the answer — meaning that the lieutenant-governor most certainly could cast the deciding vote, without any distinction between so-called "organizational" matters of the Senate, or legislation itself.

As a Democrat, it isn't difficult to see in which direction the lieutenant-governor's vote would be cast, if this constitutional section should be so interpreted! . . . Offhand there doesn't seem to be any point at issue after all!

The Roaring Silence — For the past two days it has been so quiet around Capitol Hill you can hear the squirrels in Capitol Park crunching nuts . . . The usually heavy beehive of activity has been missing—and of course the fat and heavy Thanksgiving holiday weekend has been the reason.

Offices are silent and telephones occasionally jangle fitfully as some luckless taxpayer tries to call one of the horde of departments—only to receive no answer . . . It's an official holiday and Capitol Hillites early Wednesday afternoon started making the most of it as they headed for their homes in the hinterlands.

The big, dark iron doors on most of the state buildings have clanged shut . . . State Police are on duty holding the fort along with a small skeleton crew of regular Capitol Police Force members . . . For them it's a lonely vigil—and we mean lonely!

"When The Cat Is Away . ." —It's an old saw of course about the cat and the mouse when the former is "away," but nevertheless it has had its counterpart after a fashion during the past few weeks on the second floor front in the south end of the Main Capitol Building.

That location is the gubernatorial suite and for the past couple of weeks Mr. Lawrence has been away—down in South America on a Governor's Conference tour along with more that two score other chief executives.

While the Keystone State chief was away last week for example, off to sunny Florida went gubernatorial press secretary Dick Haratine with his wife for a long overdue puff-and-rest session (he still has two weeks vacation coming).

Asked why he stayed only a week, he moaned on return Monday: "How much do you think a press secretary makes anyway? I'm trying to figure out how to pay for last week's junket!"

And in Paris this week for observation of a NATO nations conference is gubernatorial legislative secretary Roy Schafer, who is in the land of the gendarmes by virtue of his being national president of the Young Democrats of America —at YDA expense, not taxpayer . . . On Monday the Governor returns from South America . . (All the mice will be on hand—or will return shortly thereafter!)

The puppies came as a surprise, as they were not expected to until next month.

The Allen-Scott Report

Silk Hat For Kennedy

By Robert S. Allen
and Paul Scott

Washington — President-elect Kennedy has made one momentous decision regarding his inauguration.

He will wear a silk top hat.

President Eisenhower has been informed of this by the Inaugural Committee. It has told him that his 43-year-old successor has determined silk toppers are to be the "dress for the day" on the traditional ride down Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House to the Capitol, where the oath of office is administered.

What the President will do about this sartorial matter is still unknown. He did not discuss it with the committee; may do so when he and Kennedy get together.

In the President's first inauguration in 1953, he ditched the long-used high silk hat for a Homburg. President Truman went along with that, although he had worn a silk hat at his inauguration.

There is nothing to prevent the president's wearing a Homburg, and Kennedy a silk hat. That's never happened before, but there is always a first time. gray pin-striped trousers. He will wear a forma' high collar and black four-in-hand tie. His gloves will be gray suede.

Vice President-elect Lyndon Johnson will be similarly dressed

Both he and Kennedy already have silk toppers. Kennedy has two. He plans to use the one he wore as a Harvard Overseer at last spring's commencement exercises.

Usually Kennedy goes hatless. He has a number of hats, and even some caps. But he rarely wears them. Throughout his campaigning, he went bareheaded except for one occasion. This was when he toured Philadelphia suburbs in a heavy rain in an open car.

Fearing he might catch cold, Representative William Green, local Democratic chief, persuaded Kennedy to don a borrowed rain-hat.

Johnson's favorite hat is the sombrero type. But he doesn't wear this in Washington. He either goes bareheaded, or wears a conventional hat.

Both men have their suits tailor-made, Kennedy in New York and Johnson in Washington. Johnson's shirts are also tailor-made. Johnson's handsome cowboy boots, which he wears only on his Texas ranch, are handmade — most of them by a famous bootmaker in San Antonio.

Mrs. Kennedy will attend the swearing-in and other inauguration events if her health permits. Her second child, by Caesarian, is due in December.

Under consideration is inviting the two living ex-Presidents to be on hand — Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman. Hoover was asked to both Eisenhower inaugurals, but Truman was not included in 1956. He has never been to the White House in the Eisenhower Administration.

Neither has former Governor Alf Landon, 1936 GOP standard-bearer. Former Governor Thomas Dewey, 1944 and 1948 presidential candidate, has been a White House guest on a number of occasions, but not Landon.

Vice President Nixon has never been a guest at the President's Gettysburg farm. Nixon and his wife have been at the White House many times, but not Gettysburg.

Good Eating — The famed bean soup that has featured the menu of the Senate restaurant for as long as memory runneth has been "slightly" changed. Exactly what this change in recipe is, is the chef's secret. All he will say is, "It's an improvement."

In any event, the soup is as savory as ever, and the "official" recipe for eight servings is as follows: Two pounds of small navy pea beans; wash and run through hot water until beans are white again. Put on fire with four quarts of hot water. Then put in 1-½ pounds smoked ham hocks, boil slowly for about three hours in covered pot. Braise a chopped onion in a little butter, and when light brown put into bean soup. Season with salt and pepper — and then relax and enjoy it.

Senator Allen Ellender, Louisiana bachelor, is noted for his culinary skill, particularly in creole dishes. For all of them he uses what he calls the "basic sauce" consisting of 3 bacon slices, small piece smoked ham (about three ounces, diced), 1 rounded tablespoon flour, 2 pounds onions, chopped fine, 1 medium bell pepper, chopped fine, 1 lemon (use grated rind, then remove white pulpy membrane and chop rest of lemon), 3 pods garlic, a few dashes each of Worcestershire sauce, tabasco, thyme, 2 bay leaves, salt to taste.

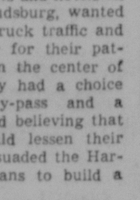

Ellender puts these ingredients together as follows: Fry the fat out of the bacon, remove bacon. Fry the ham in bacon fat, remove ham scraps. Add flour to fat and brown, stirring constantly, to make scorchy tasting browned "roux." Add the onions, fry slowly until well browned and reduced to pulp. Add rest of ingredients and continue to cook slowly for at least half an hour.

Using this basic sauce, Ellender makes his widely-noted gumbo with two pounds okra, four pounds pealed shrimp tails, one pound crab meat, parsley and onion tops as follows: Smother the okra (i.e., cook slowly in fat, stirring constantly to prevent scorching or browning), in a small pot until no longer ropey. Add basic sauce and continue to cook for not less than 20 minutes. Add shrimp and crab meat, as well as enough water to make the sauce a soupy consistency. Cook for about 20 minutes after mixture has started boiling. About 10 minutes before serving, add handful of chopped onion tops and parsley. Serve over rice in soup plate.

Inside You And Yours

Acid Test

For years the medicine chest in Clara's house bulged with bottles of creamy-white acid neutralizers. Massive doses were never able to extinguish her heartburn. She was told that she was drifting towards an ulcer on oceans of acid.

Then doctors decided to find out how much extra acid flowed in her stomach juices. They found none—not even the normal amount!

Now, Clara wonders how many other heartburn fighters are using the wrong extinguishers. You, perhaps?

Stomach acid fades with age. One out of every three Social Security checks goes to a citizen with no stomach acid.

This acid-lack rarely causes trouble, but it sometimes touches off that same heartburn and indigestion which stems from overacidity.

You feel bloated between burps. A tiny snack—and you're stuffed! You blow your top over little things you don't even care about.

You feel weak and tired and your stomach drags. Your intestines become the Indianapolis track as food races along at record-breaking speed.

Take these troubles to your family doctor! They may stem from some serious condition that needs treatment, or perhaps they really do reflect a lack of stomach acid.

The acid normally tenderizes chunks of meat, while the stomach pounds it into a beefy paste. Your molars can make up for the lack of stomach tenderizer. Chew each bite well!

Stomach acid may be taking the rap for some other guilty party. That gas which makes you feel like an overfilled windbag before you belch is only swallowed air.

Nervous Tension

And nervous tension can hop up the stomach until it feels like a cage bulging with supersonic butterflies. This nervous wing-flapping might explain why the same troubles erupt from both excess acid and acid lack.

Fifteen drops of diluted hydrocholoric acid have been known to dissolve away all the symptoms, but this dose is like a drop in the ocean. The stomach manufactures two to three quarts a day.

Water sometimes works as well as the acid, if you see the dropper! The medicine dropper calms restless stomachs and starts juices flowing because you look at the contents! You see a half-full dropper—not a half-empty one.

If you can view the rest of the world from this angle, you may pass the real acid test—medicine-free.

And think how much extra space you'll have in your medicine chest!

Preferred Another Route

Dear Mr. Editor:

The merchants and hotels on Main St., Stroudsburg, wanted to divert the truck traffic and make it easier for their patrons to park in the center of the town. They had a choice between a by-pass and a throughway and believing that a by-pass would lessen their trade they persuaded the Harrisburg politicians to build a throughway.

There is reason to believe that the route of this new road was determined by engineers going over the land in an airplane. They must have been so far above the ground that they only dimly realized what their proposed route would mean.

In another year five and one-half miles of this road will be finished. Meantime over 100 valuable houses have been destroyed, new bridges built, water, sewer and gas lines relocated and nearly 300,000 cubic yards of dolamite blasted out and removed.

The result in one way should please the Main St. businessman. All trucks will go over the new road and not through Stroudsburg. As far as more people coming to Stroudsburg to spend money is concerned, that remains a question that only time can determine.

The road is so complicated with so many exits and entrances that tourists once on the new road would need a map, a guide and perhaps a sight-seeing dog to enable them to leave it and arrive on Main St. It will be far easier for them to keep on traveling and spend their money in some other town.

Finally the Grand Canyon of South Stroudsburg will be completed. It is not as deep, as wide or spectacular as the Grand Canyon of the Colorado or the Wellsboro Canyon but these two were carved by running water and the South Stroudsburg Canyon was formed by dynamite. Only those living near by can realize the shocks produced by these explosions. The Veterans of Foreign Wars state that it rebeing formed to be called the Veterans of the South Stroudsburg Canyon. Only those whose property has been confiscated or badly damaged or who have had their nerves shattered are eligible for membership. The dues will be nominal and a meeting held once a year at which time members will read papers telling of their many tribulations.

Naturally, as the years pass, these experiences will grow more terrible. Every year medels formed of concrete doughnuts tied with black ribbon will be awarded to the enterprising citizens of Monroe County who arranged the building of the road.

Once completed, those living near the road will be kept awake all night by the roar of diesel driven trucks. Whenever there is a heavy snow the Canyon will be filled. The Highways Dept. will try to keep the road open but the expense will be heavy.

It is difficult to understand why a by-pass could not have gone over Foxtown Hill and Godfrey's Ridge or around East Stroudsburg. Three million dollars could have been saved if either of these routes had been used. So far no one has been able to explain this useless expenditure of state and national cash. Perhaps the politicians and Stroudsburg merchants know why the Grand Canyon of South Stroudsburg was formed.

T-Sgt. Voss Commended By Officers

T/SGT. JOHN A. Voss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester I. Voss, 86 Broad St., Stroudsburg, has received a letter of appreciation while serving with the 4683rd Air Defense Wing (ADC), U.S. Air Force, in Greenland.

Signed by Capt. Bob McLucas, fuels supply officer at Thule Air Base, it lauds Sgt. Voss for "your tireless efforts and unselfish contributions" as noncommissioned officer in charge of the tank farm at the base.

Lauds Stroudsburger

Praising Voss for the important part he played in making the shipping season a success, it continues:

"All deeds performed by you and your men were executed under extremely difficult working conditions. Due to an acute shortage of experienced personnel you and your men were required to work much longer hours than is normally expected. Even under these conditions your devotion to duty and superb management of men and equipment marked you as an outstanding non-commissioned officer in your career field."

The letter also carries endorsements by Col. Jack E. McKee, director of material, and Major Joseph B. Colfer, commander of the 4683rd Supply Squadron.

GREENTOWN — Greene Township Supervisors Wednesday night rejected Ordinance 12 requiring hunters to carry written permission of all landowners on whose property they cross.

State Student Cleans Panther

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Penn State University student spent part of Thanksgiving Day cleaning paint off a panther statue at Panther Hollow Bridge in Pittsburgh's Oakland section.

Police charged that Theodore R. Komorowski helped douse the statue with paint on Nov. 19 after the Penn State football team beat the University of Pittsburgh Panthers.

At a hearing in Penn Avenue Magistrate's Court on Thursday, Magistrate E. N. Johnson refused an offer of Komorowski's father to pay for damages to the statue.

Johnson said he would drop vandalism and malicious mischief charges against Komorowski if he would remove the paint from the statue.

Stroudsburg Lions Hear Talk On Highway Safety

STROUDSBURG Lions at their recent dinner-meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel paid tribute to Thanksgiving, partaking of a traditional turkey feast with all the accessories associated with Pilgrims' feast.

The program was devoted to highway safety and the speaker was Patrolman Thomas P. Anton of the Pennsylvania State Police. He surveyed the many dangers of highway traffic and urged care at all times on the part of the driver, as the great need in making the highways safe.

In connection with the present requirement of re-examination before the coming year's operating licenses are issued, he explained that it is by no means the purpose of the state to take as many drivers as possible off the road.

Quite the contrary, he said, the purpose is to make all drivers safe motorists. And as eyesight is of cardinal importance, a test with a most efficient machine will be the only requirement.

Stems From Fatalities

The patrolman said that the push of Governor Lawrence to require the "Safety Program" stems from two tragic motor accidents in his own family.

The speaker cautioned his listeners not to depend too completely on the fact that the automobile is made of steel. The destructive power generated when speeding cars come together is terrific, he said and the only protection is in care.

Private Anton showed a series of wreck pictures on the screen and commented on them as they were shown.

Woodrow German spoke briefly on the proposed pooling of some service club activities.

Antitrust Suit Appeal Denied

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—United Shoe Machinery, Inc., Boston, Mass., has been denied the right to appeal a $5,250,000 antitrust suit filed by Hanover Shoe, Inc., York, Pa., it was disclosed here.

The U. S. Supreme Court has notified counsel for both sides that United's petition for permission to appeal the Hanover action has been denied. This ruling apparently clears the way for a federal court trial here on the suit.

Last July, the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia upheld the opinion of Circuit Judge Herbert F. Goodrich, who ruled Hanover has cause for action against United. The ruling came after United sought dismissal of the suit.

Hanover alleges United prevented it from acquiring outright ownership of certain machinery used in the manufacture of shoes.

No trial date has been set.

Wasp Leaves For Sea Duty

Train Crashes Into Vehicle

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (AP) — A Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train crashed into a stalled auto at a crossing in nearby Mill Creek Thursday, killing a teenage boy and seriously injuring two other persons.

Killed was Donald Lee Rosensteel, 18, of Kistler, Mifflin County. Rosensteel was the driver of the car.

Paul Cox, 20, of Mount Union, and Howard Benson, 18, of nearby Three Springs, were rushed to the J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital in serious condition. They were passengers in the car.

State police said the train was going at a speed of about 70 miles an hour when it smashed into the car. The three were hurled from the auto by the impact of the crash, police said.

The crash occurred on Route 76 about half a mile west of the Huntingdon County town of Mill Creek. F. J. Kandibinder of Altoona was identified by state police as the engineer of the 18-car passenger train.

Report Seeing Soviet Fishing

AALESUND, Norway (AP) — Norwegian fishermen returning from the fishing banks east of Iceland Thursday reported seeing a gigantic Soviet fishing fleet there.

The number of Soviet vessels was estimated at more than 1,000. Norwegian fishermen who have been catching herring off the Icelandic coast for generations said they never before had seen such a fleet of trawlers in that area.

Political observers speculated that the Soviet trawler movements have some connection with the whereabouts of the Polaris-armed U.S. nuclear submarine George Washington, believed on patrol in the North Atlantic.

Two Men Held In Kidnaping

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two New York men are in Allegheny County Jail under $50,000 bond each pending grand jury action on charges of kidnapping a Steubenville, Ohio, physician.

Anthony Pizzuto, 24, and Peter Rizzo, 21, waived hearings Wednesday before a U. S. Commissioner.

Dr. Ralph M. Rea said the pair abducted him at gunpoint Nov. 16 in Steubenville and drove to the vicinity of Imperial, Pa. There, the doctor said, he escaped.

Cadillac

Grandest way in the world to get there!

It has been remarked that the most delightful distance between departure and arrival is a journey in a Cadillac car.

And if this has been recognized in years past, it will be more apparent in 1961.

For in all the things that make a motor car a pleasure to ride in—the current Cadillac is clearly in a class of its own making.

It's a pleasure just to sit in a new Cadillac!

First of all, there is the wonderful roominess of the car's interior. Space reaches out in every direction—above, in front, and to the sides.

Here, in motordom's most generously proportioned passenger area, you can really take your comfort and your ease in abundance.

Then there is its great luxury. The seat cushions are soft and gentle . . . and a wonderworld of personal conveniences is in attendance.

And what a treat the interior compartment is to the eye. Choice fabrics and leathers . . . exquisite patterns and textures . . . color and chrome—all blend into a vision of perfect beauty.

And in motion on the highway, these interior delights seem doubly pleasurable.

The car is incredibly smooth and level of ride . . . and it is so quiet in operation that it is actually possible to whisper and be heard!

Have you as yet made a journey in a 1961 Cadillac? If you haven't, you should do so soon.

It's one trip that every motorist owes to himself!

Dear Abby

Mais Oui, Madame

Dear Abby: I hid my paper very quickly after reading the many letters from readers who gave various reasons why French poodles made poor pets. You see I have a French poodle, and he doesn't know he's supposed to be high-strung, temperamental and noisy. If he had seen those letters, it might have been disastrous.

MARTHA

Dear Martha: You didn't have to hide the paper. French poodles can't read English.

* * *

Dear Abby: I've seen many opinions expressed in your column about what to call one's in-laws. Here is how I feel about it: I raised three sons and two daughters. As each was about to be married I let it be known that I was "MRS. BROWN" to the wives and husbands of my children.

The first time I heard my own son call HIS mother-in-law "Mother" it almost broke my heart to think he could call another woman "Mother" while his own mother was still living.

I don't think it's possible to call anyone except one's own parents "Mother and Dad" and be sincere.

MRS. BROWN

Dear "Mrs. Brown": You have a right to your own opinion, but thank heaven you are in the minority.

* * *

Dear Abby: Last year when it came time to mail out our Christmas cards, my husband and I had an argument. I put our name and return address on the back of every envelope. My husband said that it looked like we were hinting for them to send US a card. The reason I did it was in case the front of the envelope got smeared and the postman couldn't read the address, the card would be returned to us. I would appreciate it if you would tell me who was right and who was wrong.

PEEVED

Dear Peeved: At last I have an opportunity to do something for the post office department; it has done so much for me! You were right. All cards and letters should bear the name and address of the sender so that if the address is illegible, incomplete or incorrect, the letter can be returned to the sender.

* * *

Dear Abby: What do you do when the kids upstairs keep running a rat race day and night, knocking things off the shelves, shaking the lights and putting cracks in the ceiling? The kids are under five years old and probably don't know any better, but I beg my landlord almost daily for some peace and am ignored.

I have worn out my ceiling ramming against it with a broom handle, and my pots and pans are bent from banging them on the ceiling to let my neighbors know I mean business. The father of these little monsters is an Air Force Sergeant, so he should be intelligent enough to realize how annoying it is for us downstairs. Don't tell me to move. I am stuck here.

TRAPPED

Dear Trapped: The kids are "under five years old"—what's your excuse? Intelligent, peace-loving grown-ups do not bang objects against the ceiling to gain peace and quiet. Walk up a flight, knock on their door, and talk with the parents.

Another Mountain Bear Story Told

By PAT WILLIAMS

BARRETT—Another bear story from Barrett. Last week, a furry visitor shambled along the highway through Mountainhome. Possibly he was doing his Christmas shopping early (smart bear). His appearance was rather upsetting to the baker at Lewis Food Market though. The baker was preparing to go home when he discovered the bear outside looking over the contents of the garbage can. After the bear had finished, the baker was sure to look both ways before he went out the door.

Someone has taken the time to render an invaluable service, and count the shopping days left before Christmas. The holiday season has begun. Of course, we knew it was coming, but there is only so much that can be done in advance. Anyway part of the season is the rush, rush, rush of shopping, gift wrapping and card sending. Decorations are going up and so does the volume of mail.

Scrutinize Decorations

By the way, now is the time to look over last year's decorations and make a list for new items. Counting the names on the card list is recommended also. Somewhere along here, lists begin duplicating themselves and strings will be tied on fingers, and notes written all over the house.

Closets have become off limits for the younger members of the family and even adults are putting things away when other adults are around. There is a furtiveness about the house and chuckling over nothing at all. Curiosity cannot be indulged or both the giver and recipient will be disenchanted. Catalogs (regular reading all year) now get dog-ears and fingerprints. Another list begins to grow (Santa are you paying attention?) with certain items starred.

Along with all the preparations for the holiday is a mountain of baking and cooking. Invitations must be sent and special cards to enclose chatty letters to the people you only write to once a year—in a Christmas Card. Sounds busy; all these many things give you a feeling of being piled under with only your neck sticking out (in some cases you feel as if you're in up to your eyebrows) but looking back brings the realization that you can do it—you made it last year. And anyway, the increasing number of carols and special programs lighten hearts and quicken already busy hands.

Time To Explain

There is even time to explain the many questions the children have about Santa and the holidays. Being a mother is most rewarding (and tiring) during this season. The work is mountainous, with all the details that must be tied as neatly as any package, but after the children have been tucked in, and you sit down to slip off your shoes to relax a minute, take a moment to look back over the day—funny how you have given so much love just lately, isn't it? The more you work and plan, the more love creeps in until you are fairly bursting with all this "Togetherness." At last it all becomes quite clear—there really is a Santa Claus, and you're IT.

Reports On Suppression Of Natives

RT. REV. Richard Ambrose Reeves, Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, South Africa, recently told the story of suppression of the natives of South Africa to more than 200 people in Cathredal Church of Nativity, Bethlehem.

The bishop warned that the white people of the world face a revolution in their status. "The day of domination of the economic, social and all aspects of life by the white is rapidly coming to an end," he said.

"Time is running out very quickly for white supremacy and we must face up to the situation and find ways and means of adjusting," he continued.

"It is very important," he said, "that America set its own house in order, racially speaking."

Not Just Racial

The unrest in South Africa is not due entirely to the racial problems, but mainly to unbearable economic conditions, the bishop reported. Out of the nine million native Africans now living in South Africa, he said, more than 2½ million are urban dwellers. They are of the second and third generation and are westernized, he pointed out.

The South African government consistently behaves as if these urban Africans were still primitive tribal people and gives them no say in their own affairs, Bishop Reeves said. He explained that no land in any town or city can be owned by a native African. They must live in separate sections under white law, he said.

Go Flying On Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Follweiler, who were married 30 years ago Thanksgiving Day in an airplane circling a Pennsylvania airport, celebrated this anniversary by flying.

"We were married in an airplane 30 years ago, and we've been up in the air ever since," said Mrs. Follweiler as they left Idlewild Airport for San Juan and the Virgin Islands.

Their home is at Allentown, Pa. They were married in a five-passenger, single-engine plane over Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport in 1930.

Follweiler, 52, is an insurance agent. He said he had got interested in aircraft when he was 16 and has been up in everything from gliders to jets.

Their 10th anniversary was celebrated with a flight in a twin-engine plane to New York and in 1955 they celebrated with a flight to Bermuda.

"I hope we will be able to celebrate our 35th anniversary in a space ship," Mrs. Follweiler said. "That wouldn't frighten us at all."

New Life For Foreign Doctors

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly 2,500 foreign physicians who failed to pass qualifying examinations in the United States two months ago can avoid deportation if U. S. hospitals set up a special educational program for them.

The American Medical Association announced the plan yesterday. The plan, the AMA said, was worked out through agreement with the State Department, the American Hospital Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF ALL ADVERTISING STOPPED ?

Stores would begin cancelling orders. Very quickly, manufacturers would close down plants and lay off millions of employees. Volume production would be a thing of the past . . . and so, prices would rise fast.

Within a week most radio and television stations would close up shop for lack of revenue. The ability of many newspapers and magazines to perform their full, vital functions would be seriously impaired. And the cost per copy would zoom for those that tried to keep running only on circulation revenues.

This alternative to advertising can hardly be the goal of the critics of advertising. Without advertising our national economy, our national life, would be bleak indeed. In many ways, advertising is the power plant of our society.

MORE CUSTOMERS FOR MORE PRODUCTS—American creative genius and wonderful ability for organization have resulted in a tremendous flow of goods of all kinds. This creates a crucial need for masses of people anxious, willing and able to buy and consume these goods. Only a society with a constantly rising standard of living can provide the customers. These customers have to be sought, taught and often persuaded to move higher in the scale of living. This is the job of advertising.

Advertising not only gives people news about new products, but provides the urge for people to own and enjoy these products. The wider and deeper the penetration of our products into the life of America, the greater the need for more production. This means more jobs. More jobs mean more people able to enjoy what we make. More people buying means more, still more production. And so on and so on. The result is that more Americans can enjoy more of the fruits of their labor than people in any country anywhere in the world can enjoy theirs.

ADVERTISING LOWERS PRICES—Does advertising raise the cost of goods? On the contrary. Through newspapers, television, magazines, radio and billboards, an advertiser can talk to a prospect for a tiny fraction of a cent. Advertising is the quickest and cheapest way of reaching large numbers of people. It enables the advertiser to reach his market (customers) inexpensively and thus increase his total production, thereby reducing the cost of making and selling each unit.

THE CULTURAL EFFECTS OF ADVERTISING—It's because of advertising that our mass media of communication can afford to command the finest talent for bringing to the American people information, stimulation, entertainment and education which in other countries are available to just a very few people.

Advertising makes its cultural contribution in another way. Advertising is in large measure responsible for better living, less drudgery, more leisure for more people. This creates opportunities for intellectual and spiritual activities equaled in few, if any, other countries. While millions and millions of dollars are being spent by Americans for cars, boats, sports equipment and the paraphernalia of leisure, there is a growing hunger for improvement of the mind and for aesthetic enjoyment.

WHAT ARE THE "NEEDS" OF THE PEOPLE?—Critics of advertising sometimes indict it for creating dissatisfaction in people's minds with what they have, and persuading and cajoling them into buying what they neither need nor want. But what are "needs?" The "needs" of people in undeveloped countries are not the same as our needs. Our needs of 50 years ago are not the same as they are today. We don't actually "need" electric razors, electric refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, television sets, shampoos, beauty treatments, packaged goods, or even automobiles. But would the critics of advertising stop encouraging people to want a better life? Would they have the millions of people who create, produce, and market the so-called "non-essentials" thrown out of jobs? Do they want us to go back to the more primitive living of other countries?

ADVERTISING—PUBLIC SERVANT—Frequently, the advertising industry is called on to direct public-service jobs—for the Government as well as for private public-service organizations. This it does through the Advertising Council, a non-profit organization supported by American business and advertising media. Here's what President Eisenhower said to the Advertising Council in Washington several months ago:

"For eighteen years you have been stimulating the nation's conscience in areas where the voluntary work of great numbers of people has been necessary in order to promote worthwhile causes. I know you have been in such fields as conservation, organized charities, safety, prevention of accidents, and more recently in giving your efforts to the job of pointing out to our people the need for self-discipline if we are to avoid debasement of our currency and prevent inflation.

"And I think no other body has done more in this regard in trying to inform America across the board of these things than The Advertising Council."

The Daily Investor

Questions About AT&T

By William A. Doyle

Q. Approximately how many people own stock in American Telephone & Telegraph Co.?

A. The latest available figures show that AT&T is owned by 1,737,000 shareholders. It is the most widely owned of all stocks. This is reflected by the fact that I get more questions about AT&T than about any other stock.

Q. Is most of the AT&T stock held by a great many people who own a small number of shares or by a lesser number of people who own large amounts?

A. Most of the stock is owned by small investors. At the end of 1959, 16 per cent of the shareholders owned 10 shares or less; 25 per cent of the shareholders owned from 11 to 30 shares. As a matter of fact, more than half of the shareholders owned 45 shares or less.

The largest number held by one individual accounted for only one-thirtieth of one percent of 223,349,039 shares outstanding at the end of last year.

The largest stockholder account held about one per cent of the outstanding stock. Those shares were held (probably still are) by a big investment company. So, those shares were indirectly owned by the tens of thousands of shareholders of the investment company.

Q. What is the easiest way for a person who is not an AT&T employee to buy some AT&T stock?

A. Order it through a brokerage firm. If you don't know a broker, ask your bank to arrange the purchase for you. AT&T stock is traded on the New York, Boston, Philadelphia-Baltimore, Midwest, Pacific Coast, Cincinnati, Detroit and Pittsburgh Stock Exchanges and the Paris Bourse.

Q. How much does it cost to buy AT&T stock?

A. That depends on the trading price at the time your order is executed. So far in 1960, this stock was traded at prices varying from 79 ⅞ ($79.87½ a share) to 97 ⅝ ($97.62½ a share). As this is written, AT&T's market price is getting up near its high for the year.

Q. I heard that AT&T had a profit of around a billion dollars in 1959. Was that money paid in dividends to stockholders?

A. AT&T had a net profit of $1,113,152,000 last year. This figured out to $5.22 on each of the average number of AT&T shares outstanding during 1959.

Dividends of $3.30 a share were paid last year. The rest of the profits were retained by the company and put back to work. Very few corporations pay equal to their earnings. Most plow back some of their profits for expansion, modernization of factories, etc.

AT&T's earnings have been rising. The dividend payout was increased in 1959, when the stock was split three-for-one. It is generally expected that there will be more dividend increases in the future.

When? I have no idea. My crystal ball clouds up on that one.

He has asked Representatives Wall and Scott to push legislation on measures to facilitate this action.

Fire Forces 40 To Flee

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Fire raged through a four-story electronics plant in Upland Township early yesterday, routing about 40 persons from an adjoining apartment house.

As the people fled in their nightclothing large stocks of television picture tubes, stored in the plant, exploded from the heat, and smoke billowed over the area.

A general alarm mobilized more than 200 firemen from eight companies, who worked for 2½ hours to control the flames.

The fire broke out in the Supreme Electronics Co. plant, a 100-year-old stone building that used to be a sawmill and a textile mill. The firm rebuilds used TV tubes. It opened the plant several months ago.

Fire department officials said the blaze apparently started on the top floor and spread both through the roof and downward. Its exact cause had not been determined. Nor was there an immediate estimate of damage.

Just Between Us——

One of the annual mysteries of life is how the same people who groaned on Thanksgiving afternoon, they could never eat again are so hungry on Friday noon. As a matter of fact before the Thanksgiving dinner dishes are put away everybody seems to come poking around picking the turkey bones and further demolishing the fruit centerpiece.

Anyway, it was a wonderful holiday for me without most of the family meeting at State College for the dinner of the century. Funny how things change—when the children were small and Thanksgiving was at Grandma's the grown-ups crowded the festive board and the grandchildren ate at a side-table. This year with the grandchildren so big and so many they shared the big table with their grandparents while their parents were banished to the sidelines.

It was very peaceful that way—at least nobody had to cut up our meat—yet, that is. The weather couldn't have been more perfect — and the long ride that had become so familiar during their college years took on a fresh outlook. It was good to see again the eight-sided house outside of Danville and debate whether the rooms inside would be pie-shaped; to see the private railroad with its funny little engine running between Berwick and Bloomsburg; to marvel again at the round barn outside State College.

But State College itself was sort of reminiscent of "On the Beach" with nary a student in sight which made it wonderful for driving around. I felt a little guilty, missing the Battle of the Boroughs, but after hearing the score, I sadly surmised that one more yell wouldn't have turned the tide or made that tie I was betting on possible.

Well, it didn't seem to make anyone lose his appetite—which reminds me—what is there to eat in the refrigerator when you've eaten Thanksgiving dinner at somebody else's house?

The invocation was led by Anna M. Serfass, chaplain. Mrs. Violet Meixsel reported two new members, bringing the membership to 253.

Local DAR Activities Cited At State Conference

The Jacob Stroud Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, gained honor in many fields at the meeting of the State DAR Convention according to reports given by delegates at the November meeting of the chapter at the Stroud Community House.

The report of the regent, Mrs. William E. Andrew, at the conference included as outstanding features: Jacob Stroud was (1) the only chapter reporting action taken on the subject of the court ruling that reading of the Bible is illegal in the public schools in this state; (2) the only chapter reporting use of recording on the subject of National Defense made by the President General; (3) the only chapter reporting the purchase of land donated to the Federal Government through the Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Society.

In Mrs. Andrew's report of the convention she also gave the three resolutions passed by delegates at the state conference: (1) to oppose withdrawal of the Connally Amendment; (2) limitation of foreign aid; (3) to urge legislature to inspect history books used in classrooms in order to protect pupils from subversive propoganda.

The genealogical committee of the local chapter also received special commendation for work done this year. Mrs. George Marsh, chairman; Mrs. Horace Walters and Mrs. Russell Feller in collaboration, sent to the state chairman 160 pages of Kunkletown church records; added 60 pages to the Stroudsburg Cemetery Records from Prospect Cemetery in East Stroudsburg; and sent 100 pages of Howard Morgan Funeral notices from 1887 to 1927 furnished by the widow of Howard Morgan, funeral director.

Gifts from the chapter includes: $10 to the fund for Indian schools; $10 to school chorus; clothing and jewelry to Kate Duncan Smith school; clothing to Tamassee DAR School; $10 to Kate Duncan Smith School; $3.75 to General American Indian Fund; $10 as first of three annual payments for repairs to Tamassee Health House; three large boxes of winter clothing to Kate Duncan Smith school; large box of Christmas gifts to both Tamassee and Kate Duncan Smith School.

In other report from the convention Mrs. Harold C. Edwards, state chairman for registration, spoke on "Credentials, Registration and Attendance"; Mrs. Irwin Foltz gave a resume of the report by the President General, Mrs. Asmead White, guest of honor at the convention.

Mrs. LeRoy Koehler and Mrs. Frank Weiss also attended the state conference but were out of town for the local meeting and will report later.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Horace Fellencer. Mrs. Robert A. Bixler Jr. reported for the secretary, Mrs. Joseph Yutz who was absent.

The program featured Mrs. John J. Pentz Jr. who gave a dramatic reading of poetry following the history of the United States from the discovery of America to the present.

Mrs. Harold J. Pine and Mrs. Warren F. Mikels were co-chairmen of the hostess committee which included Mrs. Fannie Kintner and Mrs. Frank M. Kerr.

Dance-Buffet To Brighten Yule Holidays For College Students On Dec. 30

Timed to break while local college students are home on vacation, the news of two special guests at the Holiday College Dance and Buffet has been announced by the committee in charge.

The dance will be held on Friday, Dec. 30, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel for all young adults of college age in the community, and will feature an orchestra and a midnight buffet. It will be semi-formal and, the committee emphasized, may be attended with or without dates.

The first such affair was held last year and proved a great success with some 137 students from 41 different colleges attending. The same committee, headed by Mrs. J. S. Swartley and Mrs. W. S. Anderson, is functioning with the addition of other parents of this year's college freshmen.

Again this year, in order to keep the party within student budgets, the price of the tickets is being kept to a minimum and the difference is being supplied by adult patrons.

In order to get the party off to a good start the committee has invited two special guests with a warmth guaranteed to thaw any social ice before it has a chance to form: Sally Ferrebee, radio personality and director of Laurel Time festivities with the Laurel Princesses; and Tom Waring, composer, musician and master of ceremonies deluxe.

The only thing college students now home on vacation need to do is to make a mental note of the date and to plan to attend.

STROUDSBURG, PA.

Goodbye, Turkey! HELLO, SANTA!

That, in a nutshell, (a walnut nutshell . . . left over from yesterday's feasting) is the story of today. In many a home there'll be turkey croquettes on tonight's dinner table . . . but conversation will center around the thrilling train ride enjoyed this morning by the children. For, even as you read the newspaper over your breakfast, bright-eyed tots and their parents will be hustling to the Erie-Lackawanna Station to ride on Wyckoff's Christmas Train to Gouldsboro where they'll meet Santa, who is flying in from the North Pole.

We're truly sorry that the 1200 tickets went so quickly . . . but they did. However, those who haven't them, may see Santa at 11:45 when his train returns with him to the station. And, after two o'clock, children may bring him their gift lists as he holds court in Wyckoff's Toyland.

Oh, these are wonderful days for the young, and young in heart! I'm told that Tuesday evening our Wyckoff telephone line, direct to the North Pole, carried 910 telephone calls. Santa was thrilled to talk with all his little friends . . . but, poor Old Fellow, he must really be a weary one! When I see how the minutes slip through my fingers, and I never seem to accomplish a third of those things I've planned to do, I wonder how Santa can possibly answer letters . . . talk to hundreds of children . . . keep the reindeers in tow (that Rudolph is quite a problem I hear—always poking his red nose into places it shouldn't be!) . . . make fifty million toys . . . and still keep smiling.

I console myself by thinking what a hefty fellow Santa is. "No wonder he can accomplish so much more," I tell myself. "There's more of him than there is of you."

Well, I told myself that before YESTERDAY. I'm almost afraid to compare us now. If there's much more Thanksgiving feasting and pre-Christmas munching, Santa will look emaciated in comparison. I think I'll ask for Metrecal in my Christmas stocking.

Oh . . . for heaven's sake, doesn't that look delicious! FRESH DATES from our Wyckoff candy department . . . and just look at those adorable, ruffle-cupped individual fruit cakes. Light or dark—two for 35c.

So what if I am bigger than Santa? I'll just get a bigger red coat with ermine trim. Why should I worry? Only SANTA has to go down chimneys . . . all I need do is squeeze through a door.

* * *

Guess I did mention some days ago that we have more of those delightful wobbly-bobble-headed dolls from Japan in our gift department, didn't I? They are precious as stocking stuffers, and come in quite a variety. There are the little girl and boy dolls we gave the college freshmen at our Coke Party this fall. There are sirenish, tall, thin-limbed gals with earrings and bright lips. There are fat, pudgy dolls. Quite an array really—all of wood, hand painted, and all with heads that bob in animated conversation or vigorous argument. I love them, and so will YOU and the children.

* * *

My children never tire of receiving pens as gifts, and I notice our stationery department has a big selection in a wide price range. Fact is, our stationery department has marvelous gift ideas for everyone . . . photograph albums, playing cards, best sellers, paperbacks, scrapbooks, diaries, Bibles, all kinds of letter and note papers, jigsaw puzzles, crayons, children's books in all price ranges, as well as the pretty cards and wrapping papers that make any gift "extra special."

PUC Approves D&H Signals

HARRISBURG (AP) — Installation of automatic signals and gates at three Delaware & Hudson Railroad crossings in Olyphant has been approved by the Public Utility Commission.

The automatic equipment will replace watchman-operated gates at the East Grant Street and North Valley Avenue crossings. But the railroad was directed to maintain a watchman at track level and the South Valley Avenue intersection between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., daily except Sunday.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, NOV. 25, 1960

to April 20 (Aries)—One [illegible] at most errors by preparing beforehand, and by consistent diligence toward perfection. When occasionally careless, we sometimes make big mistakes at precarious times.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Use your influence upon those about you and whomever you meet to urge [illegible] of thinking and wise purposes behind moves, changes. As we said weeks ago, some changes ARE needed.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Thoughtful reading and music can put us in a better frame of mind for some of the harder issues, greater problems facing us. Don't stint at wrong time, but don't squander resources either.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Note propositions, leave no stone unturned in search for true, improved tactics, methods. Use versatility of others and your own cleverness: top results will accrue.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Permit no one to discourage you from first-rank attainment you seek, unless those goals could be unworthy. We all must listen to warnings, then sift, study, digest. Tact!

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Improving aspects for remainder of month sponsor rightful duties, work, and new interests of appeal. Restore confidence for others, restrain properly while you advance to higher goals.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — You see wasted effort and materials? Here is where Libra's great sense of values and abilities can assist. Lead, take initiative where it is needed, staying with your conscience the while.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — If you begin something, aim to finish it, except where it means too long hours or too steady driving, then one becomes stale, fatigued, and rest, diversion makes for better effort later.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Make careful deductions. Being public-spirited is natural with you, and many of this Zodiacal sector become statesmen, renowned patriots. Don't let errors pass uncorrected.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Saturn's less suspicious aspect urges fresh support for clarity, decisive action AFTER thoughtful, factual deliberation, denouncing that which could cripple good will.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — You are well-disposed to distinctive and reputable innovations, advances. May take a large step forward now, or soon, so prepare, anticipate it, seek it.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) —Neptune has been growing progressively more benevolent latter part of November. Except for a day or two, when you may feel restrictions, obstacles, you should be achieving notably.

YOU BORN TODAY are of the friendly, self-reliant, optimistic Sagittarius. Ever ready for initiative, new fields, as is your neighbor, Scorpio. Will work hard, too, to attain in them. Innately bright in mind an spirit, and wish to see others gain. Can be economical, yet are visionary; you just don't waste good moments or resources. But do not always find surest means of developing your resources. Higher education, reliance upon prayer, cheerful disposition can carry you beyond hazards of daily life to remarkable heights. Keep fit. Birthdates: His Holiness, Pope John XXIII; Andrew Carnegie, 19th century American industrialist, philanthropist; Lope de Vega Carpio, 16th century Spanish poet and dramatist.

E-Burg Wins 48-6

LYING DOWN ON THE JOB—Stroud Union halfback Glen Bisbing (26) barely missed this pass in the first half of the Inter-Borough game. Cavalier defender Brian Farris (left) tipped the ball but Bisbing couldn't hold on to it. The photos of the Inter-borough game were taken by Daily Record photographer Rod MacLeod, using a 35 mm camera with a telephoto lens.

The pass from center on the extra point attempt rolled on the ground and Nevil's conversion attempt was partially blocked.

It was 21-6 then and it appeared that Baylor and the Mounties might make a run for the Little Brown Jug.

But Myers spilled the Mountie water out of the jug one play later. Another onsides kick was picked off by Jack Van Horn, who returned it to the Stroud Union 35.

Myers roared off right tackle for the touchdown and then rushed for the extra point. Four plays later East Stroudsburg put the ball in play on its own 35. The Cavaliers ran the same play off left tackle and 65-yards later Myers achieved the same result.

Seven Man Line

Stroud Union used a seven man line throughout most of the game, with a lone linebacker. It was the same defensive alignment that it used last year against East Stroudsburg to gain a 6-6 tie.

But this year the Cavaliers were ready.

"We practiced against that defense all week," said Cavalier coach Jack Kist after the middle of the line bunched, East Stroudsburg picked on the ends and tackles but still had to depend on crisp blocks to spring its backs.

Tackles Bud Stann and Patella opened more holes than the East Stroudsburg sewer project.

But it was a pass not a run that broke the game open says Kist.

With a 7-0 lead midway through the first period, Fellman faked a handoff to Myers and the big fullback slammed ahead and went down. For a brief second it appeared that the Mounties had finally contained Myers.

Sideline Tag

Fellman, however, had the ball and floated a 32-yard scoring pass to Van Vliet . Fellman tried only three more passes and connected on another touchdown heave, this time a 63-yarder to halfback Jim Steele, who played tag with the sideline for 40-yards.

Fellman, who twisted his ankle in the Port Jervis game, was under orders from Kist not to run the ball. He did managed to squeeze in a one-yard carry on the belly series and scored a defensive touchdown.

In the fourth quarter Schatzman rammed for a short gain and was tackled on the arms by two Cavaliers. The ball popped loose and Fellman grabbed it in the air and ran 37-yards for the score. He also carried for the conversion attempt. Fellman normally kicks the Cavaliers' extra points but the ankle injury vetoed the kicking route.

Baylor, who played his last game for Stroud Union, turned in his best performance of the year. His passes were the biggest threat the Mounties produced and accounted for six first downs. Baylor also gained good yardage on quarterback sneaks but his rushing average suffered, because he was thrown for losses on several pass attempts.

Baylor got brilliant pass protection in the first half and he used it to good advantage, completing his first three passes. Mounties' coach Walt Bjorn called the first half protection "as good as any he has seen in high school."

Myers, a junior, was voted the game's outstanding player by a seven man press and radio group covering the game. He tallied every vote.

Farris and Metzgar were announced as the Cavalier co-captains for next year before the game. Stroud Union will not pick its captains until next year.

The 48 points registered by East Stroudsburg are the largest number in the 16 meetings of the schools. And the 42 point spread equalled the difference mark set in the first game in 1945, 42-0.

Texas Gets Bowl

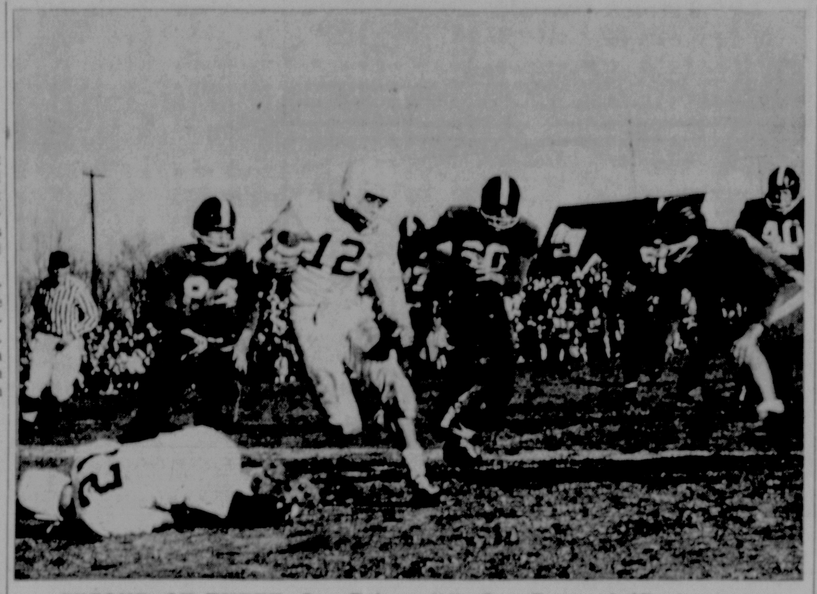

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Jitterbug James Saxton and hard driving Ray Poage put the punch in Texas' offensive to carry the Longhorns to a 21-14 win over determined Texas A&M here Thursday. Texas immediately accepted a Bluebonnet Bowl bid.

MYERS GETS MORE — East Stroudsburg fullback Harold (Mach 2) Myers bulls for yardage, as he carries unidentified Stroud Union defender with him. Myers was voted the outstanding player in the game. He scored 21 points and gained 170 yards in 13 carries. Only three weeks ago Myers suffered a cracked rib that forced him to wear a protective pad Thursday. Warren Loney (11) is on ground at left.

FIRST FUMBLE—Loose football goes temporarily unnoticed as Stroud Union halfback Glen Bisbing (26) is brought down on opening kickoff return. Bisbing returned the kick to his own 39 where he was hit. The ball popped loose and was recovered by Mike Boushell. Players identifiable in the picture are Jim Steele (47) and Jim Farry (70). It was the first of six Mountaineer fumbles.

Bangor Tops Pen Argyl On Reimer's 3 Romps

By Armon Williams

BANGOR — Long runs turned the Slate Belt Classic into one of the wildest games ever at Bangor Memorial Park Stadium yesterday afternoon but Bangor High was the master of the "Big Play" and went on to defeat Pen Argyl High for the fourth straight year, 31-12, before 5,000 onlookers.

Leo Reimer, unrelenting Maroon halfback, sparked the avalanche with a trio of touchdown trips from way out, in the come-from-behind victory that was an 18-12 halftime tossup.

The contest's single grinding drive, set in motion by Dave Lambert's recovery of Phil Falcone's fumble, provided the Green Knights with first blood but after that it was breakaway action with Bangor in the saddle.

Air Grab

Lambert, fielding the ball in mid-air at the line of scrimmage, picked up six yards to Bangor's 37 and then Pen Argyl surged goalwood. Ed Roberts and Steve Williams, in four carries, claimed a first down on the 26. Bill Hewett, slashing tackle twice and also accepting a 10-yard pass from Roberts after one failure, fashioned another on the 13. Then Williams and Hewett barged to the three and Roberts, on a quick lineup, flashed through center. Sig Guarry's placement missed the mark.

Bangor struck back with the kickoff. Falcone returned 17 to the 36 and Bobby Dawe and the Reimer cousins, Bun and Leo, crossed over to Pen Argyl's 37 in two first downs where, on last down with nine needed, Dawe skirted right end and raced the distance behind field-clearing blocking. Falcone's placement failed, leaving the score locked at 6-6.

A lightning bolt followed and Bangor was on the road to success. On the first play after Roberts' 11-yard runback of the kickoff, Hewett bobbled at the line of scrimmage and Falcone snatched the loose pigskin and breezed 23 to a touchdown. Again the point bid by placement went wide.

Move Ahead

Bangor moved ahead by another six points midway in the second when a punting exchange was terminated suddenly by Leo Reimer's spectacular 65-yard gallop, after he grabbed Jim Ceraul's boot. The placement try was blocked and Bangor, guilty of a personal foul, was penalized 15 yards in kicking off.

This tee-off, with Hewett's classy 37-yard return, gave the Green possession on Bangor's 42. Roberts' six-yard pass to Tom DePue and short ground gains by Hewett and Williams advanced the ball to the 29 where Johnny Johnson, on a reverse, reeled off right end for the tally untouched. Roberts' pitch on a fake placement was grounded.

Bangor started constructing a cushion in the third, again in bizarre fashion. Dawe forced the door by intercepting Roberts' deflected line pass on the Green's 34 and Leo Reimer immediately went through it in a charge off tackle that shook off one defender after the other. Dawe's flip for the conversion on a placement formation was incomplete.

Reimer Again

Reimer hit the headlines again early in the fourth, wrapping up production. Once more, on first down after Barry Warrick's recovery of Hewett's fumble won the initiative, he slipped off tackle and through a host of opponents for 34 yards and a payoff. Falcone converted with a placement for the final 31-12 score.

The win gives Bangor permanent possession of The Daily Record football trophy. The award is made to the winner of the mythical Pocono-Slate Belt League of Bangor, Pen Argyl, Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg.

Bangor has won the trophy now three years in a row, including a tie with Pen Argyl last year. A new trophy will be put in circulation next year.

Bangor was 3-0 in the trophy race, dropping East Stroudsburg, Stroud Union and Pen Argyl. East Stroudsburg was second 2-1, followed by Pen Argyl 1-2 and Stroud Union 0-3.

E-Burg Backs, Mountaineers' Spirit Impresses Coach Gregory

By JACK GREGORY
East Stroudsburg State College Football Coach

A NORMAL ball game between a club that has lost nine games in a row and a team that has only dropped three out of nine should cause very little commotion. But, as everyone in our communities realizes, the "Battle of the Boros" is not a normal ball game.

It is a game that brings out the outstanding efforts by all players involved; a game that stirs the complete communities for weeks ahead of time, a game that is considered one of the top, if not the top, sporting event of the year. The 1960 "Battle of the Boros" proved no exception.

Playing before a capacity crowd and in perfect football weather, the fine football team from East Stroudsburg rode in high gear and put on possibly the best high school offensive show that most football fans in this area have seen in many years.

Hard Running

The hard running of Harold Myers, Brian Farris, and Jim Steele plus the timely passing and very good field generalship of Jack Fellman kept the Stroudsburg defense off balance throughout the day.

Although Myers was very powerful up the middle and over the dive hole (tackle hole) throughout the game, it appeared to be Eastburg's ability to get to the outside that kept its offense moving at full speed.

Fellman did not throw the ball very often throughout the game, but his first pass to Harry Van Vliet, which resulted in a TD was a beauty. Also, his first pass in the second half to Steele, which covered 62 yards for a TD was another gem.

John Baylor, who gave it his all throughout the game, did his best to keep the Mountaineers in the game with his throwing arm. At the beginning of the game he completed the first three passes he threw and throughout the game his passing was the main threat of his club.

Myers Impressive

Like most of the very large crowd, I was impressed with the running ability of Myers. This boy has good speed plus the size which makes him a dangerous back on the inside. Having another year of high school football remaining, Harold could develop into a most sensational ball player.

One thing is most important, and I am sure coach Jack Kist has told Harold this many times, he cannot rest on the laurels of his junior year. He must work harder than ever in 1961 in order to accomplish the aims and goals that he and his team will want to reach.

Aside from the job that the hard running backs did for East Stroudsburg, a hardy 'pat on the back' should go to the men up front. Each and every one of them did a real good job and should feel mighty proud of their efforts. I do believe the job that the tackles, Vince Patella and Bud Stann, did was most outstanding, as some of the holes that they opened, looked big enough for a truck to fit through.

Congratulations are also in store for coach Kist and his most able staff for the fine job they did in getting their club ready for this big game.

In most cases it would be difficult to write much about the club that was on the bottom end of a 48 to 6 score but I strongly believe the Stroudsburg boys displayed a fighting spirit of which any coach would be proud and happy to have on his squad. Although there was very little doubt in the outcome of the game once Eastburg started to move, there was no sign of a let up on the field.

Mounties Praised

Each time Stroud Union got the ball they were shooting for the long one so that they would have a chance to get back into the game. Fumbles (mostly caused by good, hard tackling) hurt Stroudsburg throughout the game but they never stopped fighting.

Coach Walt Bjorn and his staff kept trying to help the boys throughout and along with the boys, did their very best to make it a good game.

I must say that I can't help feeling a little sorry for the seniors on the Stroud Union Club. To the seniors like Baylor and Gary Reish, this was the end of their high school football careers. I am sure that they wanted it to end on a bright note but even though they went through a most dismal season, I am positive that they learned many lessons that will help them to meet and overcome many problems and troubles that they will help them to meet and overcome many problems and troubles that they will have to face in life's bumpy road.

The game of football is so similar to the game of life that it would seem a philosopher invented it. It is a group situation whereby the group is pitted against another similar group to overcome barriers and emerge victorious.

Also, as in life, some of the barriers a person must meet may be more difficult to overcome than others. Although the Mountaineers may feel down in the dumps now, I am sure the spirit which they displayed will help them be victorious in the future.

It has been my observation that boys who achieve greatness in football are strong on competitive desire (determination), confidence, and courage. I feel that each of these qualities was displayed often throughout the Turkey Day game by the boys who will be the future leaders of our communities.

Being a comparable rookie to the "Battle of the Boros," I was very impressed with the tremendous interest and following of the game. It is a game which both communities should be proud of, as well as being proud of the boys and men who participate in the playing and running of the game.

West Captures Gem City Bowl

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Gordon Bukaty of Buffalo University sparked the East team to a 27-26 victory over the West Thursday in the third annual Gem City football bowl.

Bukaty plunged a yard for one touchdown and tossed two scoring passes to Nick Anzelmi of George Washington — one for 15 yards and another for 10.

Mike Scatena of St. Vincent (Pa.) College scored the other East touchdown on a 31-yard pass from Charles Packen of George Washington.

Cooper Scores

Bill Cooper of Muskingum scored the West's first TD oh a one-yard plunge, and Al Faunce of Northwestern tallied the second on an eight-yard run. The West got its last two touchdowns on passes from Ron Costello of Xavier. He hit Steve McClellan of Wooster with a 15-yarder. With only 2:45 left in the game, Costello got off a 60-yard scoring play with a pass off a triple reverse to Jim Mullen of Xavier.

The West tried to run for the extra two points that would have put them ahead but were stopped short of the goal.

Dick Wolslayer and Sterling Brown of East Stroudsburg State College played for the West team. The pair were originally scheduled to play for the East but were switched when the West did not have enough linemen.

Brown played the entire game as an offensive guard and did the kicking off.

Wolslayer was only in on eight plays but he made two tackles and knocked the interference out on two other plays.

Wolslayer played defensive guard and linebacker. All the players in the game received gold footballs.

Pair Tied In Mobile Pro Golf

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Veteran Freddie Haas and young Jon Gustin came in late with 6-under-par 66s and tied for the lead in the opening round of the Mobile Open Golf Tournament Thursday.

The 44-year-old Haas, who plays only infrequently on the pro circuit, toured the 6,900-yard, par 36-36—72 Mobile municipal course in 32-34—66.

Gustin, who is 28, carded a 33-33—66.

Haas, of New Orleans, hasn't won a tournament in almost seven years. Gustin, playing out of Gladwyne, Pa., has never won one.

Palmer Close

Others in the 68 bracket: Jerry Pittman, Tulsa, Okla; Johnny Pott, Shreveport, La.; Gene Mitchell, Lubbock, Tex.; Gay Brewer Jr., Crystal River, Fla.; Dave Hill, Denver, Colo.; and Frank Boynton, Orlando, Fla.

At 69 were Howie Johnson and Marty Furgol, both of Cog Hill, Ill., and Tony Lema, San Leandro, Calif.

Lions Rap Green Bay With Passes

DETROIT (AP)—Jim Ninowski swept the title-hopeful Green Bay Packers off their feet with a devastating first half passing attack that started the Detroit Lions toward a 23-10 victory today in the National Football League's annual Thanksgiving Day clash.

Ninowski's passing—he completed 14 of 22 for 180 yards in the first half—coupled with Green Bay blunders shoved the in and out Lions into a 16-0 lead that nullified the Packers' brief second half flurry.

Capacity Crowd

A capacity crowd of 54,123 and a national television audience witnessed the twenty-first holiday clash between these long-time rivals.

The defeat seriously crippled Green Bay's western division title chances. Trailing division-leading Baltimore by one game going into today's contest, the Packers now have dropped into third place behind the Chicago Bears.

Toronto Wants AL Team

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility that Toronto might replace Los Angeles in the muddled American League expansion plans cropped up again Thursday in the wake of indications the National League will reject the alternate proposal of nine-team interlocking schedules in 1961.

First reported by The Associated Press a week ago, the Toronto idea had gained credence with a statement from Commissioner Ford Frick that the baseball law requiring notice by Oct. 31 for moving into minor league territory the following season did not apply in Toronto's case.

"That rule applies only to when an outside group wants to step in and acquire minor league territory," Frick said. "In this case Jack Kent Cooke, who owns the (Toronto) International League franchise, simply would be transferring it to a major league.

Has Territory

"In that case, he does not have to acquire any territory. He already has it. He therefore would have to indemnify only the International League for the loss of its Toronto member."

The assumption is that the embattled American League would turn to Toronto only if the National League refuses its nine-team proposal at its vote Dec. 5 in St. Louis and if Walter O'Malley, owner of the NL Dodgers, continues to oppose AL plans to go into Los Angeles in 1961.

Texas, Penn, Head Slim List Of Turkey Champs

By The Associated Press

GAMES rich in tradition spiced a slim Thanksgiving Day program for the nation's colleges, and although upsets in such contests are the rule rather than the exception, only one which might be considered major was achieved.

VMI, with a 6-2-1 record and already assured the Southern Conference championship, was defeated by Virginia Tech 13-12. Tech had a 5-4 record before the kickoff.

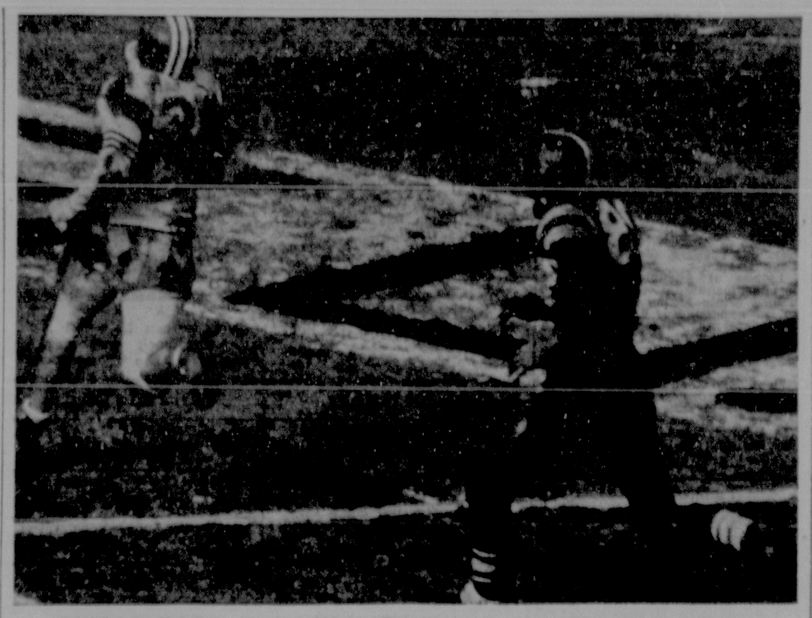

The ancient Texas-Texas A&M rivalry saw Texas in a battle for survival after nearly blowing a 21-0 halftime lead. The Longhorns finally won 21-14, and immediately accepted a bid to play in the Bluebonnet game Dec. 17 at Houston against a still unnamed opponent, possibly Alabama.

Swan Song

Penn and Cornell, Ivy League rivals of long standing, met in Philadelphia in what proved to be a sad swan song for Cornell Coach Lefty James. James was fired, a decision reached before his team lost to the Quakers 18-7.

Denver's sophomore quarterback, Ramiro Escandon, set all kinds of school records in leading his team to a 21-12 Skyline Conference victory over Colorado State. Richmond performed smoothly on the ground and in the air in blanking William and Mary 19-0. And Wichita, Missouri Valley Conference champion, romped over West Texas State 31-14.

Among the smaller colleges Lenoir Rhyne, No. 2 in The Associated Press small college poll, crushed Catawba 56-6 for its sixth straight North State Conference football title and a possible trip to the Holiday Bowl at St. Petersburg, Fla. It was Lenoir Rhyne's fifth straight unbeaten season.

CALLED BACK—Tackle Vince Patella races into the end zone for an apparent score for East Stroudsburg in yesterday's Turkey Day Game at Memorial Stadium. But the officials rules that Patella had picked up an incompleted pass not a fumble. Bob Nonnemaker chases Patella.

Late Benefit Game Planned

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—In order to aid the United Fund the Philadelphia Eagles and the National Football League have waived a rule preventing telecast of a league game on the day of the game in the same city in which it is being played.

The league and the Eagles—the home team in this case—will allow a delayed telecast (WCAU-TV) of Sunday's Eastern Conference game between the leading Philadelphia club and the second place New York Giants. The game has been a sellout for more than a week.

Each viewer of the telecast at 11:15 (est) Sunday night is being asked to contribute $1.00 to the United Fund to help make up a $324,000 deficit in the 1961 drive which ended last Tuesday night.

Police To Work Inside Stadium

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A task force of 50 to 60 policemen is being detailed to duty at Franklin Field Sunday to guard against outbreaks of unrestrained enthusiasm by football fans.

The Philadelphia Eagles play the New York Giants then, and already the stadium, with 60,000 capacity, is sold out.

Police Commissioner Albert N. Brown said Tuesday his orders came straight from Mayor Richardson Dilworth. The mayor has been disturbed by reports of fans tumbling onto the field and ripping down goal posts after Eagles victories.

Titans Whip Dallas

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Dorow threw for two touchdowns, ran for one and set up two more with passes today as the New York Titans celebrated Thanksgiving Day at the Polo Grounds with a 41-35 victory over Dallas. It was the highest scoring game of the year in the American Football League.

A slim crowd of 14,344 saw the balding Dorow lead the Titans out of a four-game losing streak with 21 completions of 36 passes, good for 301 yards, in their final home game.

Don Maynard, the Titans' fleet-footed end, caught 10 of Dorow's heaves for 179 yards and one touchdown. Art Powell, the other half of the Titans' pass-catching ends, grabbed eight for 110 yards. He also scored once.

Backs Dewey Bohling, Roger Donnahoo, and Bill Mathis also scored touchdowns for the Titans, Donnahoo's coming on a 57-yard run with a recovered fumble. Bill Shockley converted five of his six extra point attempts.

A Most Expensive Grab Bag

THE NEW WASHINGTON entry in the American League will soon get a chance to take part in a $75,000 a shot grab bag.

The original fleecing was supposed to include Los Angeles, but the League decided to hold off on a Los Angeles franchise for two years, which is probably the best break Los Angeles could receive.

The plan was for each American League club to put 15 players in a pool, with seven to be picked by the two new entries. Originally 16 players were to go on the list but when it was cut by one, The New York Yankees promptly dropped Gil McDougald's name from the list.

So now the Washington club will have to go it alone. The club is obligated to pick 28 players at $75,000 a crack, which adds up to more than $2 million the eight other owners will split.

Famous Stars Go At Bargain Price

And for the $75,000 the Washingtons will have the chance to pluck such well known stars as Dave Tyriver, from Cleveland; Ed Hobaugh, Chicago; Steve Dalkowski, Baltimore; Jim Fergosi, Boston; Marion Zipfel, New York; Bob Cimiron, Minneapolis; Frank Cipriani, Kansas City and Aubrey Gatewood, Detroit.

Most of these players were put on the parent club roster to protect them from the minor league draft and when the major league fat cats saw a chance to hook a fish, they threw out a $75,000 sinker.

The White Sox may be making one of the cleverest moves. The Sox paid out a $60,000 plus bonus to Dean Look last year. Look is the former Michigan State grid star.

But now Look's name is put on the grab back list. It could be that the Sox have found that Look isn't a major leaguer and they want to unload the Spartan back at a tidy profit.

Many Will Go On Waiver List

There may be several players on the lists that are worth $75,000 but most of them wouldn't bring that price if they were sold as indentured servants.

It will be interesting to see how many of the players on the list that are unclaimed, are put on the waiver list later and are not picked up, even though the waiver price is only $10,000.

The Washingtons could buy a club that might stand up for a year or two and with brisk fight might escape the cellar.

It might include Ted Kluszewski, Dick Gernert, Earl Torgeson, Dale Long at first; Ken Aspromonte, Billy Klaus, Billy Goodman, at second; Ken Hamlin, at short and Eddie Yost at third. The outfielders might be Jim Rivera, Gene Woodling, Willie Tasby, Rip Repulski, Bob Cerv, Hank Bauer. The possible catchers are Clint Courtney, Red Wilson, Pete Daley. And the pitchers might include Don Newcombe, Turk Lown, Billy Hoeft, Billy Short, Johnny James, Bob Shantz, Ned Garver and Dave Sisler.

The World's Biggest Con Game

With a good supply of tape and liniment most of the players on the list will last another two or three years.

But what the other club owners are playing with Washington is a giant "shell and pea" game similar to the one that is found in second rate carnivals.

For $75,000 the Washington owners get to look under one shell at a time only the game is slightly different than the carnival version.—There are no peas under any of the shells.

PLANE IN WHICH TWO DIED—This Piper Cub piloted by David F. Prong, 36, Coplay, plowed nose-first into a wooded field south of Albrightsville yesterday, killing Prong and Charles Rothdeutsch, 44, Allentown. Plane was owned by an Allentown flying club and was based at Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Two Die In Plane Crash

By Don Allen

TWO Allentown-area men were instantly killed about 11:20 a.m. yesterday when their light plane crashed in a wooded field two miles south of Albrightsville.

William Weyhenmeyer of Lehighton, Carbon County deputy coroner, identified them as David F. Prong, 36, of 50 Magna Dr., Echo Manor, Coplay, and Charles Rothdeutsch, 44, 1410 Turner St., Allentown.

He said both men died of fractured skulls and multiple internal injuries. Prong was identified as the pilot.

The plane, a single-engine, two-seater Piper Cub, was owned by Conair Flying Club of Allentown and was based at Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

John Doster of Allentown, air safety inspector for the Federal Aviation Agency, inspected the wreckage yesterday afternoon and told newsmen a Civil Aeronautics Board investigator will join him in probing the cause of the crash today.

Francis Leyer of Albrightsville, a farmer, said he and his son-in-law were putting up no-trespassing signs when they saw the plane coming down.

Leyer said the engine seemed to almost stop when it reached the middle of the field, but the pilot gunned the motor and gained enough altitude to clear trees at the end of the field.

The plane started to circle, Leyer said, and was out of his sight when it crashed. He said he thought it was attempting to make a landing.

A State Police spokesman at the scene said it is possible the plane developed engine trouble while flying at a low altitude.

The area in which it crashed is covered by waist-high scrub oak. It is within about 100 yards of several grass-covered fields where the pilot might have made a more successful landing.

Weyhenmeyer released the bodies to the Garrett Funeral Home, Lehighton.

Later, Prong's body was taken to the Harvey R. Saylor Funeral Home in Catasauqua and Rothdeutsch's body was removed to the Schisler Funeral Home in Northampton.

The two men were on a pleasure trip, police said. They left the A-B-E Airport about 10:30 a.m.

The crash recalled a similar tragedy last Thanksgiving Day when three persons were killed in the crash of their privately-owned plane near the airport.

London Fears U.S. Pullback From Europe

LONDON (AP)—British officials awaited with foreboding arrival Friday of the U.S. economic mission now seeking ways of reducing the flow of gold and dollars from the United States.

News that the mission had failed to produce any major results in Bonn made gloomy reading in London.

Many British experts believe that, in the long run, the failure of the United States to get its European allies to shoulder more of the cost of Western defense will force Washington to begin a pullback of men across the Atlantic or take protective measures to the detriment of world trade.

Difficulties for Europe

Either step would present difficult problems for West Europe.

The 20-man delegation—headed by Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon—went to Bonn last Sunday and is now in Paris.

Due to arrive here by plane in midmorning, Anderson and Dillon will go promptly into conference with Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer John Selwyn Lloyd. They will be guests of Edward Heath, lord privy seal and No. 2 man at the Foreign Office, at a working lunch.

A Foreign Office spokesman told newsmen Thursday that no plans have been made yet for the two Americans to meet Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who just returned from a visit to Italy.

British officials, with their own balance of payments problem, do not expect Anderson and Dillon to bring forth any heavy demands for help from London.

Joint Problems

Instead the British expect to receive a report on the talk the Americans had with the West Germans and to discuss both the American and British problems.

The United States is running a $4 - billion deficit in overseas spending, accounted for by the massive economic and military aid flowing from Washington.

This has led to steps to check American spending, including a reduction in the next 18 months of the number of servicemen's dependents living overseas.

The United States now spends $700 million a year maintaining its forces in West Germany. The Anderson - Dillon mission asked Bonn to put up $600 million toward this defense cost.

Had the West Germans agreed, the British undoubtedly would have hopes to get more from Bonn themselves. Britain has been receiving $33.6 million a year from west Germany toward the maintenance of the British army of the Rhine. This support cost agreement was reached in 1958 and will expire in April.

Mrs. Kennedy Is Removed To Hospital

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A son was born Thursday night to President-elect and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy flew in here early Friday and was told that his wife had gone to a hospital to have her baby. He immediately ordered his plane aloft to return to Washington.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Georgetown University Hospital reported Thursday night that Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the president-elect, had been brought to the hospital by ambulance. She is expecting the birth of her second child in mid-December.

Kennedy spent Thanksgiving Day here with his wife and their daughter, Caroline, who will be 3 Sunday.

The president-elect left earlier in the evening for Palm Beach, Fla., to continue his post election vacation.

Pledges Foreign Aid

PARIS (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, vice president-elect, Thursday night pledged responsible continuity in American foreign policy and said this would build greater strength for freedom throughout the world under the incoming Washington administration.

Good Morning!

The younger generation looks mighty hopeless, especially now that we're no longer a part of it.

Kasavubu Returns To Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu sought Thursday to hold together the Congo's Leopoldville garrison after the slaying of its commander, Lt. Col. Joseph Kokolo.

The popular Kokolo, 47, killed in the gun fight Monday between Congolese troops and U. N. forces at the Ghana Embassy residence, was largely responsible for keeping the 2,000-man garrison firmly behind Mobutu and President Joseph Kasavubu's pro-Western military regime.

(Kasavubu headed home from the U. N. in New York after assuring officials there he would advise within a week when it might be safe for a U. N. conciliatory group to visit the Congo.

Seven Killed

Six Congolese and one U. N. Tunisian soldiers were killed in the fighting Monday. The battle was touched off by the refusal of Ghana diplomat Nathaniel Welbeck to obey an ouster order from Mobutu. Welbeck flew home to Ghana Tuesday.

Kokolo's death caused a wave of violence against U. N. officials and increased tension in Leopoldville.

A senior U. N. official said, "There are some hotheads going round the army camp telling the men that Mobutu is too weak to be their commander now that Kokolo is dead. It is a potentially dangerous situation. Mobutu is doing everything in his power to keep it under control, but it is not an easy task."

Girl Held Captive At Knifepoint

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — A sobbing 17 - year - old Brainerd, Minn., girl told police Thursday she was kidnaped at knifepoint at 8 p.m. Tuesday near her home town library.

Virginia Major said a man forced her into a car and left her masked and tied for a 1,200-mile trip into western Montana.

Later, in a hospital for observation, she told a reporter there were two men and that she knew one of them and he released her from her bonds. Earlier, she had said she was not molested.

The sandy-haired Brainerd High School senior was taken to the hospital after she turned up in this university city early Thursday. She told police she had escaped by breaking the tape that held her hands and feet and jumping from her captor's car.

Death Toll Mounts Over Thanksgiving

By The Associated Press

A RASH of accidents claiming lives in multiple figures pushed the nation's Thanksgiving holiday death toll steadily higher Thursday.

The Associated Press counted 113 dead on the nation's highways and 18 dead in fires. Twenty-eight others perished in miscellaneous mishaps, for a total of 159 deaths before the first day of the four-day weekend had passed.

Fair weather throughout most of the nation attracted still more motorists onto the already crowded highways.

Four traffic accidents took 12 lives—three in each. One fire claimed four children. Two plane crashes killed five persons.

Three servicemen hitchhiking home for the holiday were fatally injured when the car in which they had accepted a ride was struck from the rear by a truck near Allentown, Pa.

Archbishop Denies Plotting With Reds

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Archbishop Francois Poirier was summarily banished from Haiti Thursday on a charge of financing Communists—an accusation he flatly denied at Miami on arrival of a plane he was hustled aboard at Port au Prince.

Plans were made here for him to fly Friday to his native France.

Haitian officials claimed the island republic's ranking churchman gave $7,000 to Reds who aim at overthrowing the government of President Francois Duvalier.

Speaking in French, Bishop Poirier said through an interpreter that the charges are "entirely false."

Bishop Poirier, 56, short, stocky and gray-haired, stepped off a Pan American World Airways plane wearing a white cassock and carrying only his passport. He told newsmen that was all he was allowed to take from Haiti.

The French - born churchman was met at Miami by the Most Rev. Coleman F. Carroll, bishop of Miami. Bishop Carroll held the interview to a minimum and then escorted the archbishop into an airport office where he said arrangements would be made for the prelate to fly on to Paris. The exile is a native of the province of Brittany.

The archbishop declined to disclose his plans beyond the trip to France.

The swift, secret expulsion of the highest Catholic official in Haiti climaxed a long dispute between the Catholic Church and the state—a dispute that has reached as far as the Vatican.

The immediate case involves a university student strike against detention of student leaders accused of communism.

Students were accused of plotting to overthrow the government of President Duvalier, and the archbishop was drawn into the case, the government said in a communique, by giving money to what it called student Communists.

President Duvalier, in a public appearance, made no mention of the deportation of the archbishop.

More than 6,000 partisans, businessmen and government employes marched through the streets during the day and crowded onto the national palace lawn in the afternoon in a show of loyalty to Duvalier.

ESHS Wins Turkey Day Game 48-6

By Curt Prins
Daily Record Sports Editor

FULLBACK Harold (Mach 2) Myers and halfback Brian Farris teamed for 27 points and 338 yards, as East Stroudsburg High School slammed Stroud Union 48-6 in the Inter-Borough Football Classic yesterday morning.

An over-flow crowd of 3,700 people at East Stroudsburg's Memorial Stadium saw Myers ram over from the six-yard line early in the first period to put the Cavaliers ahead 6-0 to start a seven-touchdown East Stroudsburg parade.

Myers gained 170 yards in 13 carries and Farris, who also was called 13 times, had 168 yards. The Cavaliers gained 421 yards on the ground to Stroud Union's 48. Myers had three touchdowns and three extra points, while Farris posted one touchdown.

The Cavaliers built a 21-0 halftime lead but Mountaineer quarterback John Baylor put his team on the scoreboard in the third quarter and riddled the East Stroudsburg pass defense for 190 yards.

Drive Failed

Baylor passed the Mounties to the Cavalier eight near the end of the first period but couldn't collect a score. The senior signal caller tossed a 58-yard pass to halfback Warren Loney and, aided by a brisk block by Freddy Frantz, Loney moved to the Cavalier eight. Only a diving tackle by Farris prevented Loney from scoring.

Faced with a first and goal on the eight, Baylor sent fullback Tom Schatzman straight ahead for one yard and then added three more on a rollout. Schatzman carried again to the two but on third down, Loney was stopped on the one by Earl Metzgar and the Cavaliers took over.

In two plays, Myers moved his club to the 26-yard line. He plowed off right tackle on his first carry and dragged four tacklers 19 yards before he was stopped.

It took East Stroudsburg only nine plays to score its first six pointer.

Bisbing Fumbles

Freshman Glen Bisbing fumbled the opening kickoff and Mike Boushell recovered for the Cavaliers on the Stroud Union 19.

Myers packed the ball five times in the drive, including the last three plays. The junior halfback also banged over for the extra point. The 21 points Myers collected, give him a season total of 76 points. Bob Kupeszewski holds the school single season point mark of 88, set in 1955.

Myers, who suffered a cracked rib in the Hellertown game three weeks ago, played with a large pad protecting the injured area.

He was banged on the rib rushing foran extra point after the second Cavalier touchdown and the pad was shaken loose. He threw a beautiful block on Baylor minutes later to break Farris open for a 26-yard gain but the unprotected rib was hit.

Myers was sidelined briefly but was back in action 10 plays later, when he returned an Ed Nevil punt 76 yards for a touchdown, only to have it called back when a teammate was detected clipping. Tackle Vince Patella also had a six pointer called back. He scooped up what at first appeared to be a Baylor fumble and rambled 35 yards to the en dzone. But it was ruled an incomplete forward pass not a fumble.

New Tape Job

Myers, who has not had any contact work since the injury, was taken out of the game after the punt return. At halftime the rib was retaped and the pad put back in place.

He carried the ball only four times in the second half, including back-to-back touchdowns.

East Stroudsburg's third touchdown came with 1:26 left in the half. Farris bolted off tackle for six yards for the score.

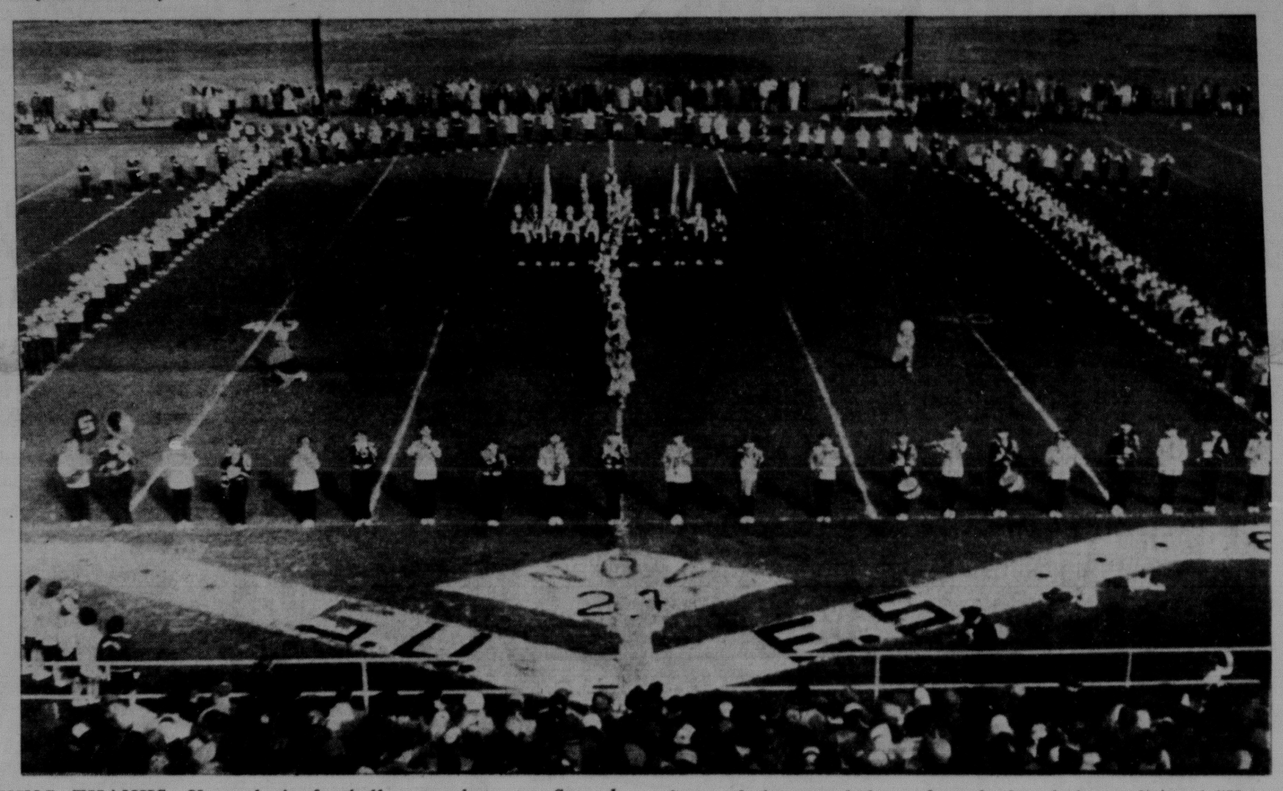

Stroud Union tried an on-sides kick to open the second half and might have pulled it off but the ball rolled out of bounds on the Eastburg 44.

Farris fumbled on the next play and Gary Reish recovered for the Mounties.

A Baylor to Bisbing aerial good for 19 yards, moved the ball to the Cavalier 15. A defensive pass interference call gave Stroud Union a first down on the Cavalier seven but on the next play Harry Van Vliet stormed in from his right end spot to throw Baylor for a seven yard loss.

Baylor, who connected on 14 of 30 tosses, followed with a short pass to Loney and then added a six yard toss to Bisbing, who took the ball on the four and moved into the end zone untouched.

GIVING THANKS—Yesterday's football game between Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg High Schools was marked by colorful half-time ceremonies by massed bands of the two schools. Shown above are the bands after they formed a large church in front of the crowded stands and played the traditional "Hymn of Thanksgiving." Color guards and drum majorettes are seen in a cross formation in center of field. (Photo by John MacLeod)

Americans Pause To Give Thanks

By The Associated Press

AMERICANS paused Thursday to feast and give thanks to God for a year's bounty.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower ate their Thanksgiving Day meal alone in the White House. Their son, John, and his family spent the day at the President's Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Also in Washington for family dinners were President-elect John F. Kennedy and the man he defeated in the last election, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson got his share of turkey in Paris, where he ate with American men serving at the U. S. Army's European headquarters.

There were some 400,000 U. S. servicemen and their dependents in Germany this year, and many shared the holiday with German friends and neighbors. Reports were plentiful of the soldiers' traditional generosity to orphans and old folk.

This year there were more than 2½ million in the armed forces, putting the usual strain on the quartermaster.

Military chapels abroad as well as churches in the United States again were filled with worshipers.

Beside the family turkey feasts in the United States, there were football games, visits and parades.

In New York the 34th annual Macy's parade was watched by an estimated total of 1.3 million men, women and children—mostly children and all bundled up against the 40-degree temperature.

The parade lasted 2¼ hours and featured a balloon figure called "The World's Happiest Dragon." It was 72 feet long, 20 feet high and 36 feet across, and it took 40 men with check lines to hold it.

Dressed as Pilgrims, residents re-enacted the first Thanksgiving at Plymouth, Mass., where the celebration started in 1621 among this nation's pioneers.

And there were some for whom the holiday provided little joy.

In Los Angeles, Cleta Nadine Samons and her three young children were taken in by the Salvation Army. Police hunted Lacy Samons, who had left for Oregon, hunting a job. A businessman, who heard of the family's plight, offered the father a job.

Church Services, Game Highlight Thanksgiving

MORE THAN 500 people attended special services in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg Churches Wednesday night, observing the beginning of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Special services were held in the First Presbyterian Church in East Stroudsburg with Rev. William F. Wunder addressing a capacity crowd of 300 peeople.

In Stroudsburg Rev. Charles A. Park was the main speaker in the Zion United Church of Christ in which 200 people attended the special services.

The members from the churches of Stroudsburg attended the Zion Church and the members from the churches of East Stroudsburg attended thee First Presbyterian services.

Yesterday at 8 a.m. special services were observed in the St. John's Lutheran Church of Stroudsburg, with Rev. Charles H. Ruloff conducting the services for a crowd of 250 members.

The main activity yesterday was the annual Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg highs Thanksgiving Day Game in East Stroudsburg with more than 3,700 people attending the 16th annual football classic.

Traffic was heavy Wednesday night with people on their way home for the turkey dinner and the visit with the folks at home.

Thursday the traffic was very light but began to increase at 9 p.m. and was expected to remain heavy until the early hours of today.

Soldiers Donate Skin So Burned Girl Might Live

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Army surgeons sliced seared tissue from the body of Peggy Roller Thursday and grafted on skin from three sergeants who underwent operations to give her a fighting chance to life.

The skin peeled Wednesday from the thighs of the enlisted men will act as barriers to infection while the 4-year-old girl's system builds up strength to replace the damaged flesh.

The hazel-eyed tot "tolerated the procedure very well," Capt. L. Q. Pugsley said after the two-hour operation.

Her condition as far as the skin graft is concerned is satisfactory, Pugsley said, although her overall condition remains serious.

Peggy, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Harry N. Roller of El Paso, was flown to the surgical burn center at Brooke General Hospital after a mysterious blaze seared 51 per cent of her body and burned off her dark hair Nov. 16 at the Roller home.

Her parents theorized she may have been playing with matches.

Without the skin grafts, doctors said, she would have no chance to recover. Now, her chances are a little less than even.

In the same ward, M. Sgt. William M. Goodloe, 45, of Earlington, Ky., Sgt. 1.C. Earl D. Bieler, 26, of Machias, Maine, and Sgt. 1.C. Harold S. Orff of Milo, Maine, were reported in fine shape after the operations in which Pugsley used an electric instrument called a dermatome to peel 128 square inches of skin from each man.

The enlisted men, with more than 46 years of service between them, watched football games on television and had turkey and trimmings for dinner.

By volunteering to donate skin to Peggy, the sergeants gave up Thanksgiving Day at home with their families, and will find movement slow and still painful during the Christmas and New Year periods.

Floods In Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Heavy rains touched off Thanksgiving Day floods in scores of western Oregon communities.

Attorney Slain In Courtroom

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A sand and gravel contractor has been booked on suspicion of murder after police said he killed one attorney and wounded two others in a wild courtroom shooting spree.

Bob Williams, 52, snapped angry remarks at attorneys during a land division hearing Wednesday and then pulled a .38-caliber pistol and fired wildly as witnesses, attorneys and a district judge tried to dodge the bullets.

Scientists Try To Fix Tiros Camera

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tiros II, the new weatherman satellite, was reported doing a good job Thursday in checking the heat balance of the earth.

Also the smaller of its two cameras was working well, while scientists tried to find out, and correct, what went wrong with the bigger one.

The bigger one, taking pictures of the earth's cloud cover over an area 800 miles square, was sending back photos that were too poor in quality to reveal much.

The little one covers a square 75 miles on a side in the center of the big one's field, but a wider area is needed to make it easier to spot just where on earth the camera was snapping pictures.

453 Miles Up

Tiros II was sent into orbit from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Wednesday.

Calculations now show its high point was 453 miles above the earth and low point was 387. Early estimates figured these at 431 and 406, whereas the desired orbit was about 400 miles.

Headquarters of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that the infrared experimental equipment carried by Tiros II was doing its job.

Bangor FFA Entertain PM Group

BANGOR — Bangor Chapter of the Future Farmers of America was host to the first fall meeting of the Pocono Mountains Area FFA at the Bangor Area Joint High School, when plans were completed for an area dance to be staged at the Pleasant Valley Joint High School on March 18, 1961.

The meeting was in charge of Richard Lieberman, president, Pen Argyl Area Joint High School; Donald Brong, vice president of Pleasant Valley; Craig Messinger, secretary of Bangor; Larry Altemose, treasurer of Pleasant Valley; Charles Bassett, reporter of Pen Argyl; Dale Griggs, sentinel, Pleasant Valley; James Rehrig, chaplain, Bangor and Robert Long, parliamentarian, Pleasant Valley.

Other Business

In other business plans for an area project for the 1960-61 school year were formulated and each member was urged to enter products in the annual Penna. State Farm Show to be staged in Harrisburg during the week of Jan. 11 1961.

Plans were made to hold an area parliamentary procedure and public speaking contest during the month of April; tractor driving and rifle contests were planned for early 1961 and further plans for the state convention to be held on June 13, 14 and 15 at State College were outlined.

Refreshments were served to those attending by the Bangor Chapter hosts for the meeting.

Pleads Innocent Of Conspiracy

NEW YORK (AP) — Alexander L. Guterma pleaded innocent with five other men in federal court yesterday to charges of conspiring to sell 37,500 unregistered shares of United Dye and Chemical Corp. stock.

Guterma was brought here from the federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Ga., where he is serving a term of four years and 11 months for violations of the securities laws.

Judge William B. Herlands scheduled Dec. 12 for setting a trial date for Guterma and the others.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jerome J. Londin said the six conspired to violate the Securities Act of 1933 by selling $1 ½ million worth of United Dye common stock in 1955.

Women Voters League Plan Survey On River Basin

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters of the Stroudsburgs are preparing to take a survey of opinion from the members on the problems of the Delaware River Basin Development.

Action in the State Legislature is expected in 1961 on this topic that will affect Monroe County as well as areas of New Jersey, New York and Delaware.

The League of Women Voters of the Stroudsburgs are urged to come to consensus by Dec. 15, so that the feelings of the local league can be passed on to the State Board of League of Women Voters of Pennsylvania who will act for all leagues in Pennsylvania.

Unit Meetings

Three identical unit meetings have been arranged by the Water Resources Committee under the direction of Mrs. David Harriton, chairman. Members will be briefed on the geographic and economic picture, the engineers' report and the outlook for legislative action.

The unit meetings will be held Monday, Nov. 28 at 10 a.m., Pocono Art Center, Main St., Stroudsburg; Tuesday, Nov. 29, 1:45 at the home of Mrs. Frank Butler, 89 Brown St., East Stroudsburg and Wednesday, Nov. 30, 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. T. J. Breitwieser, 80 Anaomink St., East Stroudsburg.

Members are urged to study booklets "Man and the River" and "Brief Survey of the Syracuse Report," and attend one of the unit meetings so that the consensus reached will be the voice of the entire local league.

Torquato Sworn In As Member

HARRISBURG (AP) — John R. Torquato, Cambria County Democratic leader and former secretary of labor and industry, was sworn in as a member of the State Securities Commission.

He was appointed to the $10,000-a-year post by Gov. Lawrence after the Legislature adjourned finally Nov. 14.

His appointment had been held up for months by the Republican-controlled Senate, whose confirmation is required while the Legislature is in session. His appointment will run until the end of the 1961 legislative session.

Torquato was fired as labor and industry secretary by former Gov. George M. Leader in 1957 because of Torquato's administration of a special fund.

John S. Rice, secretary of the Commonwealth, administered the oath of office to the Johnstown businessman. Present at the brief ceremony were House Speaker Hiram G. Andrews, representing Torquato's home county, and Lt. Gov. John Morgan Davis.

First 100 Days

The fate of President-elect Kennedy's legislative program in the next Congress depends in large measure on whether the southern Democratic coalition with conservative Republicans maintains or loses its majority status.

The new President will be at the height of his power over Congress between his inauguration on Jan. 20 and Memorial Day. During these 100 days, members of Congress must lay it on the line.

Are they going to support or oppose the Kennedy policies?

Patronage, of course, will swing on their individual decisions. Every Democrat in the Senate and in the House will be expected to support his administration or suffer the consequences.

A majority of the party members can be expected to give the 100 per cent support that is expected. A minority will not.

The Democratic Party is a heterogenous party. It contains many conflicting elements. And much of the history of the Sixties will depend on the relative strength of the two factions—the liberal Democratic majority and the conservative Democratic minority.

Particularly in the first 100 days the overriding question will be: How many of the minority voices in the party can be muffled by the many pressures that will be brought to compel party unity?

Behind The Talks At Bonn

Very few nations, having lost a major war, have fared as well at the hands of the victors as has West Germany. This, of course, is because America, Britain, and France sensed the need of filling the postwar economic vacuum in Europe as a bulwark against communism. And Germany except for the zone still under Soviet domination, has made an extremely strong industrial comeback.

So strong, indeed, that the (West German) Federal Republic is one of the few nations in the world today having a highly favorable trade balance and a virtual excess of backing for its currency.

Meanwhile, the United States has come face to face with a situation in which it must reduce the outflow of payments which constitute a drain on its gold reserves.

This is why Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon are in Bonn conferring with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard and other West German officials.

The proposal Bonn has made to contribute to financial aid for underdeveloped countries is helpful; but in some respects even it does not go far enough. More should come from government budget sources which will ensure its continuance rather than in commercial loans which still might draw funds from New York.

In addition, Washington feels that West Germany should provide approximately $650 million a year to help defray the expense of maintaining American troops in Germany which are the backbone of that nation's defense in the absence of a fully reconstituted West German army.

It is probably desirable that any West German contribution to European defense costs be made to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but this would ease the American load.

The Adenauer government may be naturally reluctant to pledge large outlays with national elections coming up next year, but the needs and purposes involved are ones which Germans of all parties should understand and be willing to support.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Cabinet Speculation

Guessing about the Cabinet is no longer a game. Politicians are deeply concerned because they wonder what will happen to them in this curious election.

Businessmen are concerned because they wonder who will direct the Department of Justice which, during the Eisenhower Administration, violated both common sense and the economic interests of the country by anti-trust prosecutions which failed to recognize that we were no longer in the Administration of William Howard Taft.

Most of all, interest centers about the Secretary of State. Many names are being mentioned, among them Chester Bowles, Senator Fulbright, Adlai Stevenson, General Greunther, Dean Acheson and more. None of these have any political claims on President-elect Kennedy. They contributed nothing to his nomination or election.

Chester Bowles, it was once assumed, was sure in. The State Department has two major tasks before it: one, is the management of the American side of the Cold War; the other, is a total reorganization of the State Department which is an unusually incompetently organized and managed department of government.

Had Vice President Nixon been elected, it was his plan to organize a new department to supervise all Cold War activities with his Vice President, Henry Cabot Lodge, in charge. This would have left to the State Department routine matters and would have given any Secretary of State an opportunity to reorganize and rebuild his department.

Whether Kennedy will adopt some such plan is not known. Chester Bowles has often expressed his ideas concerning foreign affairs and is better informed about India, to which he was ambassador, than about the problems of the Cold War.

Senator Fulbright, as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, is, of course, well informed as to our foreign relations. Apart from that, his administrative abilities have not been on display.

Adlai Stevenson is naturally well known to the country. Twice a candidate for the Presidency, he has often expressed his views on foreign affairs.

He is liberal-minded and his language is fuzzy but it would appear that, on the whole, he is given to unconsciousness of the perils of the Russian territorial advances but has definite ideas as to what should be done in Latin America.

So we come to Dean Acheson, Secretary of State during the Truman Administration. Even his enemies admit that Dean Acheson is an excellent technician in international relations. Their objection to him is that he was soft on Red China and that he is responsible for the failure in Korea.

However, since Dean Acheson left the State Department, he has delivered addresses and has written articles which disclose that his understanding of the Cold War is sound; that his appraisal of Soviet Russia and the growth of the Soviet Universal State is sound.

It will perhaps astound Dean Acheson that many of those who formerly opposed him now regard him favorably.

Perhaps equal to the Secretary of State in importance is the Ambassador to the United Nations. He is daily on the firing line. He has to make trip-hammer decisions and his language affects relations immediately.

He must be forthright, experienced, wily and articulate. The best man this country has produced for this job is Henry Cabot Lodge.

While no man is indispensable, it would be a waste of talent not to employ Lodge — who is a Republican.

The next most important appointment is the Secretary of the Treasury. Many names are mentioned. Two tower above the rest, Eugene Black of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, and John J. McCloy who was our proconsul in Germany from 1949 to 1952 and subsequently became chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

These men understand international finance and the handling of the dollar. This Administration needs talent without regard to party or any other impediment.

The third most important appointment is that of Attorney General. This office has been managed unrealistically in recent years. It requires a mind that grasps the relationship of social and economic conditions in the United States to the law.

Its supervision of the courts should be tighter; its recommendations to the President regarding judges should elevate the judiciary by eliminating party politics.

Thus far, two names have appeared: Governor Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Robert Kennedy, the President-elect's brother and manager. Both are excellent men for this position.

The Pennsylvania Story

Henhouse Uproar

By MASON DENISON

HARRISBURG—When Pennsylvania's voters went to the polls Nov. 8 and in a fluke that's never before developed in the history of the Keystone State, set up the State Senate at 25 Democratic members, they unquestionably set the stage for a henhouse hoedown when lawmakers convene here in January for the 1961 session.

The big question of course is what to do to break the seeming tie—for the sake of approving or disapproving legislation—when it takes 26 votes.

There are those who insist the lieutenant-governor, as the constitutional presiding officer over the Senate, has that right . . . There are those who insist on the other hand that the lieutenant-governor's voting right in the Senate is limited to voting on non-legislative matters only, such as whether Republicans or Democrats shall have the 23 votes needed for "organizational" control—that is, choosing the president pro tem, setting up committees and that sort of "non-legislative" activity.

Because there never before has been an exact 25-25 tie, the question is most in the minds of many, but take a look at Article IV, Section 4 of the State Constitution which reads: "A Lieutenant-Governor shall be president of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided."

That one clause "unless they be equally divided" would seem to be the answer — meaning that the lieutenant-governor most certainly could cast the deciding vote, without any distinction between so-called "organizational" matters of the Senate, or legislation itself.

As a Democrat, it isn't difficult to see in which direction the lieutenant-governor's vote would be cast, if this constitutional section should be so interpreted! . . . Offhand there doesn't seem to be any point at issue after all!

The Roaring Silence — For the past two days it has been so quiet around Capitol Hill you can hear the squirrels in Capitol Park crunching nuts . . . The usually heavy beehive of activity has been missing—and of course the fat and heavy Thanksgiving holiday weekend has been the reason.

Offices are silent and telephones occasionally jangle fitfully as some luckless taxpayer tries to call one of the horde of departments—only to receive no answer . . . It's an official holiday and Capitol Hillites early Wednesday afternoon started making the most of it as they headed for their homes in the hinterlands.

The big, dark iron doors on most of the state buildings have clanged shut . . . State Police are on duty holding the fort along with a small skeleton crew of regular Capitol Police Force members . . . For them it's a lonely vigil—and we mean lonely!

"When The Cat Is Away . ." —It's an old saw of course about the cat and the mouse when the former is "away," but nevertheless it has had its counterpart after a fashion during the past few weeks on the second floor front in the south end of the Main Capitol Building.

That location is the gubernatorial suite and for the past couple of weeks Mr. Lawrence has been away—down in South America on a Governor's Conference tour along with more that two score other chief executives.

While the Keystone State chief was away last week for example, off to sunny Florida went gubernatorial press secretary Dick Haratine with his wife for a long overdue puff-and-rest session (he still has two weeks vacation coming).

Asked why he stayed only a week, he moaned on return Monday: "How much do you think a press secretary makes anyway? I'm trying to figure out how to pay for last week's junket!"

And in Paris this week for observation of a NATO nations conference is gubernatorial legislative secretary Roy Schafer, who is in the land of the gendarmes by virtue of his being national president of the Young Democrats of America —at YDA expense, not taxpayer . . . On Monday the Governor returns from South America . . (All the mice will be on hand—or will return shortly thereafter!)

The Allen-Scott Report

Silk Hat For Kennedy

By Robert S. Allen
and Paul Scott

Washington — President-elect Kennedy has made one momentous decision regarding his inauguration.

He will wear a silk top hat.

President Eisenhower has been informed of this by the Inaugural Committee. It has told him that his 43-year-old successor has determined silk toppers are to be the "dress for the day" on the traditional ride down Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House to the Capitol, where the oath of office is administered.

What the President will do about this sartorial matter is still unknown. He did not discuss it with the committee; may do so when he and Kennedy get together.

In the President's first inauguration in 1953, he ditched the long-used high silk hat for a Homburg. President Truman went along with that, although he had worn a silk hat at his inauguration.

There is nothing to prevent the president's wearing a Homburg, and Kennedy a silk hat. That's never happened before, but there is always a first time. gray pin-striped trousers. He will wear a forma' high collar and black four-in-hand tie. His gloves will be gray suede.

Vice President-elect Lyndon Johnson will be similarly dressed

Both he and Kennedy already have silk toppers. Kennedy has two. He plans to use the one he wore as a Harvard Overseer at last spring's commencement exercises.

Usually Kennedy goes hatless. He has a number of hats, and even some caps. But he rarely wears them.

Throughout his campaigning, he went bareheaded except for one occasion. This was when he toured Philadelphia suburbs in a heavy rain in an open car.

Fearing he might catch cold, Representative William Green, local Democratic chief, persuaded Kennedy to don a borrowed rain-hat.

Johnson's favorite hat is the sombrero type. But he doesn't wear this in Washington. He either goes bareheaded, or wears a conventional hat.

Both men have their suits tailor-made, Kennedy in New York and Johnson in Washington. Johnson's shirts are also tailor-made. Johnson's handsome cowboy boots, which he wears only on his Texas ranch, are handmade — most of them by a famous bootmaker in San Antonio.

Mrs. Kennedy will attend the swearing-in and other inauguration events if her health permits. Her second child, by Caesarian, is due in December.

Under consideration is inviting the two living ex-Presidents to be on hand — Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman. Hoover was asked to both Eisenhower inaugurals, but Truman was not included in 1956. He has never been to the White House in the Eisenhower Administration.

Neither has former Governor Alf Landon, 1936 GOP standard-bearer. Former Governor Thomas Dewey, 1944 and 1948 presidential candidate, has been a White House guest on a number of occasions, but not Landon.

Vice President Nixon has never been a guest at the President's Gettysburg farm. Nixon and his wife have been at the White House many times, but not Gettysburg.

Good Eating — The famed bean soup that has featured the menu of the Senate restaurant for as long as memory runneth has been "slightly" changed. Exactly what this change in recipe is, is the chef's secret. All he will say is, "It's an improvement."

In any event, the soup is as savory as ever, and the "official" recipe for eight servings is as follows: Two pounds of small navy pea beans; wash and run through hot water until beans are white again. Put on fire with four quarts of hot water. Then put in 1-½ pounds smoked ham hocks, boil slowly for about three hours in covered pot. Braise a chopped onion in a little butter, and when light brown put into bean soup. Season with salt and pepper — and then relax and enjoy it.

Senator Allen Ellender, Louisiana bachelor, is noted for his culinary skill, particularly in creole dishes. For all of them he uses what he calls the "basic sauce" consisting of 3 bacon slices, small piece smoked ham (about three ounces, diced), 1 rounded tablespoon flour, 2 pounds onions, chopped fine, 1 medium bell pepper, chopped fine, 1 lemon (use grated rind, then remove white pulpy membrane and chop rest of lemon), 3 pods garlic, a few dashes each of Worcestershire sauce, tabasco, thyme, 2 bay leaves, salt to taste.

Ellender puts these ingredients together as follows: Fry the fat out of the bacon, remove bacon. Fry the ham in bacon fat, remove ham scraps. Add flour to fat and brown, stirring constantly, to make scorchy tasting browned "roux." Add the onions, fry slowly until well browned and reduced to pulp. Add rest of ingredients and continue to cook slowly for at least half an hour.

Using this basic sauce, Ellender makes his widely-noted gumbo with two pounds okra, four pounds pealed shrimp tails, one pound crab meat, parsley and onion tops as follows: Smother the okra (i.e., cook slowly in fat, stirring constantly to prevent scorching or browning), in a small pot until no longer ropey. Add basic sauce and continue to cook for not less than 20 minutes. Add shrimp and crab meat, as well as enough water to make the sauce a soupy consistency. Cook for about 20 minutes after mixture has started boiling. About 10 minutes before serving, add handful of chopped onion tops and parsley. Serve over rice in soup plate.

Inside You And Yours

Acid Test

For years the medicine chest in Clara's house bulged with bottles of creamy-white acid neutralizers. Massive doses were never able to extinguish her heartburn. She was told that she was drifting towards an ulcer on oceans of acid.

Then doctors decided to find out how much extra acid flowed in her stomach juices. They found none—not even the normal amount!

Now, Clara wonders how many other heartburn fighters are using the wrong extinguishers. You, perhaps?

Stomach acid fades with age. One out of every three Social Security checks goes to a citizen with no stomach acid.

This acid-lack rarely causes trouble, but it sometimes touches off that same heartburn and indigestion which stems from overacidity.

You feel bloated between burps. A tiny snack—and you're stuffed! You blow your top over little things you don't even care about.

You feel weak and tired and your stomach drags. Your intestines become the Indianapolis track as food races along at record-breaking speed.

Take these troubles to your family doctor! They may stem from some serious condition that needs treatment, or perhaps they really do reflect a lack of stomach acid.

The acid normally tenderizes chunks of meat, while the stomach pounds it into a beefy paste. Your molars can make up for the lack of stomach tenderizer. Chew each bite well!

Stomach acid may be taking the rap for some other guilty party. That gas which makes you feel like an overfilled windbag before you belch is only swallowed air.

Nervous Tension

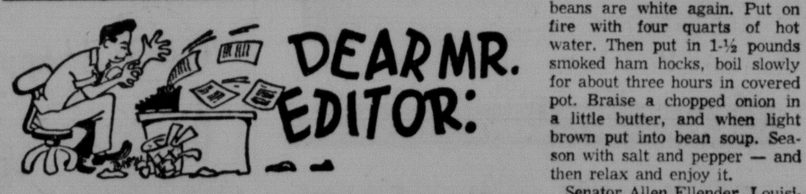

And nervous tension can hop up the stomach until it feels like a cage bulging with supersonic butterflies. This nervous wing-flapping might explain why the same troubles erupt from both excess acid and acid lack.

Fifteen drops of diluted hydrocholoric acid have been known to dissolve away all the symptoms, but this dose is like a drop in the ocean. The stomach manufactures two to three quarts a day.

Water sometimes works as well as the acid, if you see the dropper! The medicine dropper calms restless stomachs and starts juices flowing because you look at the contents! You see a half-full dropper—not a half-empty one.

If you can view the rest of the world from this angle, you may pass the real acid test—medicine-free.

Dear Mr. Editor:

The merchants and hotels on Main St., Stroudsburg, wanted to divert the truck traffic and make it easier for their patrons to park in the center of the town. They had a choice between a by-pass and a throughway and believing that a by-pass would lessen their trade they persuaded the Harrisburg politicians to build a throughway.

There is reason to believe that the route of this new road was determined by engineers going over the land in an airplane. They must have been so far above the ground that they only dimly realized what their proposed route would mean.

In another year five and one-half miles of this road will be finished. Meantime over 100 valuable houses have been destroyed, new bridges built, water, sewer and gas lines relocated and nearly 300,000 cubic yards of dolamite blasted out and removed.

The result in one way should please the Main St. businessman. All trucks will go over the new road and not through Stroudsburg. As far as more people coming to Stroudsburg to spend money is concerned, that remains a question that only time can determine.

The road is so complicated with so many exits and entrances that tourists once on the new road would need a map, a guide and perhaps a sight-seeing dog to enable them to leave it and arrive on Main St. It will be far easier for them to keep on traveling and spend their money in some other town.

Finally the Grand Canyon of South Stroudsburg will be completed. It is not as deep, as wide or spectacular as the Grand Canyon of the Colorado or the Wellsboro Canyon but these two were carved by running water and the South Stroudsburg Canyon was formed by dynamite. Only those living near by can realize the shocks produced by these explosions. The Veterans of Foreign Wars state that it rebeing formed to be called the Veterans of the South Stroudsburg Canyon. Only those whose property has been confiscated or badly damaged or who have had their nerves shattered are eligible for membership. The dues will be nominal and a meeting held once a year at which time members will read papers telling of their many tribulations.

Naturally, as the years pass, these experiences will grow more terrible. Every year models formed of concrete doughnuts tied with black ribbon will be awarded to the enterprising citizens of Monroe County who arranged the building of the road.

Once completed, those living near the road will be kept awake all night by the roar of diesel driven trucks. Whenever there is a heavy snow the Canyon will be filled. The Highways Dept. will try to keep the road open but the expense will be heavy.

It is difficult to understand why a by-pass could not have gone over Foxtown Hill and Godfrey's Ridge or around East Stroudsburg. Three million dollars could have been saved if either of these routes had been used. So far no one has been able to explain this useless expenditure of state and national cash. Perhaps the politicians and Stroudsburg merchants know why the Grand Canyon of South Stroudsburg was formed.

T-Sgt. Voss Commended By Officers

T/SGT. JOHN A. Voss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester I. Voss, 86 Broad St., Stroudsburg, has received a letter of appreciation while serving with the 4683rd Air Defense Wing (ADC), U.S. Air Force, in Greenland.

Signed by Capt. Bob McLucas, fuels supply officer at Thule Air Base, it lauds Sgt. Voss for "your tireless efforts and unselfish contributions" as noncommissioned officer in charge of the tank farm at the base.

Lauds Stroudsburger

Praising Voss for the important part he played in making the shipping season a success, it continues:

"All deeds performed by you and your men were executed under extremely difficult working conditions. Due to an acute shortage of experienced personnel you and your men were required to work much longer hours than is normally expected. Even under these conditions your devotion to duty and superb management of men and equipment marked you as an outstanding non-commissioned officer in your career field."

The letter also carries endorsements by Col. Jack E. McKee, director of material, and Major Joseph B. Colfer, commander of the 4683rd Supply Squadron.

Greene Supervisors Hunting Ordinance

GREENTOWN — Greene Township Supervisors Wednesday night rejected Ordinance 12 requiring hunters to carry written permission of all landowners on whose property they cross.

The session was scheduled to be held in the home of board secretary Henry Botjer but moved to the American Legion Home when more than 100 township residents attended to express their opinions for and against the ordinance.

Names Committee

The board named a committee of 12 delegates and three alternates to consider writing a new ordinance on hunting and trespassing.

This committee which will report to the supervisors early in January includes Albert Haldaman, Frank Razny Jr., Russell Van Buskirk Jr. Carroll Krautterm, George Geiges Sr., Robert Obert, Charles Walter, Edgar Wilson, George Ruth, Foster Uhlm, John Price, Gerald Obert, George Schmalzle, Harold Clark and Edgar Kipp.

The tabled ordinance was drawn up and advertised by the supervisors at the request of several property owners who reported, "Cronic violators who hunted without asking permission of the land owners and who were very abusive."

"Few Spoil It"

"There are always a few who spoil it for everyone," said Henry Botjer, "these are the ones that make it necessary for us to consider such an ordinance."

Supervisors at the session were Douglas Heberling, Henry M. Botjer and Richard Simons.

Area Youth Honored By State FFA

State Student Cleans Panther

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Penn State University student spent part of Thanksgiving Day cleaning paint off a panther statue at Panther Hollow Bridge in Pittsburgh's Oakland section.

Police charged that Theodore R. Komorowski helped douse the statue with paint on Nov. 19 after the Penn State football team beat the University of Pittsburgh Panthers.

At a hearing in Penn Avenue Magistrate's Court on Thursday, Magistrate E. N. Johnson refused an offer of Komorowski's father to pay for damages to the statue.

Johnson said he would drop vandalism and malicious mischief charges against Komorowski if he would remove the paint from the statue.

This is the first time in recent years that a teacher from Monroe County has been elected a member to the convention from this area.

Burglars Enter Gap Barroom

BURGLARS broke into Louise's Hofbrau in Delaware Water Gap and stole liquor and beer from the barroom some time between midnight and 7 p. m. Saturday, Delaware Water Gap Chief of Police Fred Decker revealed last night.

The thieves gained entrance through the garage attached to the building, breaking out a panel of the back door of the men's room to unlock the door leading into the barroom.

The loot consisted of six cases of beer and 18 bottles of liquor.

Turkey Menus For Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thanksgiving turkey dinners were served American servicemen stationed on land, on sea and under the seas in submarines.

For the 2,502,145 men and women in uniform, Army quartermasters purchased enough turkeys to provide nine-tenths of a pound for each one.

The Army and the Air Force use the same menus. The Navy and Marine Corps plan their own.

Here's the approved Army-Air Force menu: Shrimp cocktail with hot sauce and crackers, roast turkey with giblet gravy, bread dressing, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, orange glazed sweet potatoes, orange glazed sweet potatoes, buttered peas and broccoli, assorted relishes, hot rolls and butter, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, mince meat pie, fruit cake, assorted fruits, dates, candy, nuts, tea, coffee and milk.

Stroudsburg Lions Hear Talk On Highway Safety

STROUDSBURG Lions at their recent dinner-meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel paid tribute to Thanksgiving, partaking of a traditional turkey feast with all the accessories associated with Pilgrims' feast.

The program was devoted to highway safety and the speaker was Patrolman Thomas P. Anton of the Pennsylvania State Police. He surveyed the many dangers of highway traffic and urged care at all times on the part of the driver, as the great need in making the highways safe.

In connection with the present requirement of re-examination before the coming year's operating licenses are issued, he explained that it is by no means the purpose of the state to take as many drivers as possible off the road.

Quite the contrary, he said, the purpose is to make all drivers safe motorists. And as eyesight is of cardinal importance, a test with a most efficient machine will be the only requirement.

Stems From Fatalities

The patrolman said that the push of Governor Lawrence to require the "Safety Program" stems from two tragic motor accidents in his own family.

The speaker cautioned his listeners not to depend too completely on the fact that the automobile is made of steel. The destructive power generated when speeding cars come together is terrific, he said and the only protection is in care.

Private Anton showed a series of wreck pictures on the screen and commented on them as they were shown.

Antitrust Suit Appeal Denied

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—United Shoe Machinery, Inc., Boston, Mass., has been denied the right to appeal a $5,250,000 antitrust suit filed by Hanover Shoe, Inc., York, Pa., it was disclosed here.

The U. S. Supreme Court has notified counsel for both sides that United's petition for permission to appeal the Hanover action has been denied. This ruling apparently clears the way for a federal court trial here on the suit.

Last July, the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia upheld the opinion of Circuit Judge Herbert F. Goodrich, who ruled Hanover has cause for action against United. The ruling came after United sought dismissal of the suit.

Hanover alleges United prevented it from acquiring outright ownership of certain machinery used in the manufacture of shoes.

No trial date has been set.

Wasp Leaves For Sea Duty

The crash occurred on Route 76 about half a mile west of the Huntingdon County town of Mill Creek. F. J. Kandlbinder of Altoona was identified by state police as the engineer of the 18-car passenger train.

Report Seeing Soviet Fishing

AALESUND, Norway (AP) — Norwegian fishermen returning from the fishing banks east of Iceland Thursday reported seeing a gigantic Soviet fishing fleet there.

The number of Soviet vessels was estimated at more than 1,000. Norwegian fishermen who have been catching herring off the Icelandic coast for generations said they never before had seen such a fleet of trawlers in that area.

Political observers speculated that the Soviet trawler movements have some connection with the whereabouts of the Polaris-armed U.S. nuclear submarine George Washington, believed on patrol in the North Atlantic.

Cadillac

Grandest way in the world to get there!

It has been remarked that the most delightful distance between departure and arrival is a journey in a Cadillac car.

And if this has been recognized in years past, it will be more apparent in 1961.

For in all the things that make a motor car a pleasure to ride in—the current Cadillac is clearly in a class of its own making.

It's a pleasure just to sit in a new Cadillac!

First of all, there is the wonderful roominess of the car's interior. Space reaches out in every direction—above, in front, and to the sides.

Here, in motordom's most generously proportioned passenger area, you can really take your comfort and your ease in abundance.

Then there is its great luxury. The seat cushions are soft and gentle . . . and a wonderworld of personal conveniences is in attendance.

And what a treat the interior compartment is to the eye. Choice fabrics and leathers . . . exquisite patterns and textures . . . color and chrome—all blend into a vision of perfect beauty.

And in motion on the highway, these interior delights seem doubly pleasurable.

The car is incredibly smooth and level of ride . . . and it is so quiet in operation that it is actually possible to whisper and be heard!

Have you as yet made a journey in a 1961 Cadillac? If you haven't, you should do so soon.

It's one trip that every motorist owes to himself!

Dear Abby

Mais Oui, Madame

Dear Abby: I hid my paper very quickly after reading the many letters from readers who gave various reasons why French poodles made poor pets. You see I have a French poodle, and he doesn't know he's supposed to be high-strung, temperamental and noisy. If he had seen those letters, it might have been disastrous.

MARTHA

Dear Martha: You didn't have to hide the paper. French poodles can't read English.

* * *

Dear Abby: I've seen many opinions expressed in your column about what to call one's in-laws. Here is how I feel about it: I raised three sons and two daughters. As each was about to be married I let it be known that I was "MRS. BROWN" to the wives and husbands of my children.

The first time I heard my own son call HIS mother-in-law "Mother" it almost broke my heart to think he could call another woman "Mother" while his own mother was still living.

I don't think it's possible to call anyone except one's own parents "Mother and Dad" and be sincere.

MRS. BROWN

Dear "Mrs. Brown": You have a right to your own opinion, but thank heaven you are in the minority.

* * *

Dear Abby: Last year when it came time to mail out our Christmas cards, my husband and I had an argument. I put our name and return address on the back of every envelope. My husband said that it looked like we were hinting for them to send US a card. The reason I did it was in case the front of the envelope got smeared and the postman couldn't read the address, the card would be returned to us. I would appreciate it if you would tell me who was right and who was wrong.

PEEVED

Dear Peeved: At last I have an opportunity to do something for the post office department; it has done so much for me! You were right. All cards and letters should bear the name and address of the sender so that if the address is illegible, incomplete or incorrect, the letter can be returned to the sender.

* * *

Dear Abby: What do you do when the kids upstairs keep running a rat race day and night, knocking things off the shelves, shaking the lights and putting cracks in the ceiling? The kids are under five years old and probably don't know any better, but I beg my landlord almost daily for some peace and am ignored.

I have worn out my ceiling ramming against it with a broom handle, and my pots and pans are bent from banging them on the ceiling to let my neighbors know I mean business. The father of these little monsters is an Air Force Sergeant, so he should be intelligent enough to realize how annoying it is for us downstairs. Don't tell me to move. I am stuck here.

TRAPPED

Dear Trapped: The kids are "under five years old"—what's your excuse? Intelligent, peace-loving grown-ups do not bang objects against the ceiling to gain peace and quiet. Walk up a flight, knock on their door, and talk with the parents.

Confidential To Hank: Love cannot be preserved in alcohol. Get wise.

By PAT WILLIAMS

BARRETT—Another bear story from Barrett. Last week, a furry visitor shambled along the highway through Mountainhome. Possibly he was doing his Christmas shopping early (smart bear). His appearance was rather upsetting to the baker at Lewis Food Market though. The baker was preparing to go home when he discovered the bear outside looking over the contents of the garbage can. After the bear had finished, the baker was sure to look both ways before he went out the door.

Someone has taken the time to render an invaluable service, and count the shopping days left before Christmas. The holiday season has begun. Of course, we knew it was coming, but there is only so much that can be done in advance. Anyway part of the season is the rush, rush, rush of shopping, gift wrapping and card sending. Decorations are going up and so does the volume of mail.

Scrutinize Decorations

By the way, now is the time to look over last year's decorations and make a list for new items. Counting the names on the card list is recommended also. Somewhere along here, lists begin duplicating themselves and strings will be tied on fingers, and notes written all over the house.

Closets have become off limits for the younger members of the family and even adults are putting things away when other adults are around. There is a furtiveness about the house and chuckling over nothing at all. Curiosity cannot be indulged or both the giver and recipient will be disenchanted. Catalogs (regular reading all year) now get dog-ears and fingerprints. Another list begins to grow (Santa are you paying attention?) with certain items starred.

Along with all the preparations for the holiday is a mountain of baking and cooking. Invitations must be sent and special cards to enclose chatty letters to the people you only write to once a year—in a Christmas Card. Sounds busy; all these many things give you a feeling of being piled under with only your neck sticking out (in some cases you feel as if you're in up to your eyebrows) but looking back brings the realization that you can do it—you made it last year. And anyway, the increasing number of carols and special programs lighten hearts and quicken already busy hands.

Time To Explain

There is even time to explain the many questions the children have about Santa and the holidays. Being a mother is most rewarding (and tiring) during this season. The work is mountainous, with all the details that must be tied as neatly as any package, but after the children have been tucked in, and you sit down to slip off your shoes to relax a minute, take a moment to look back over the day—funny how you have given so much love just lately, isn't it? The more you work and plan, the more love creeps in until you are fairly bursting with all this "Togetherness." At last it all becomes quite clear—there really is a Santa Claus, and you're IT.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF ALL ADVERTISING STOPPED ?

Stores would begin cancelling orders. Very quickly, manufacturers would close down plants and lay off millions of employees. Volume production would be a thing of the past . . . and so, prices would rise fast.

Within a week most radio and television stations would close up shop for lack of revenue. The ability of many newspapers and magazines to perform their full, vital functions would be seriously impaired. And the cost per copy would zoom for those that tried to keep running only on circulation revenues.

This alternative to advertising can hardly be the goal of the critics of advertising. Without advertising our national economy, our national life, would be bleak indeed. In many ways, advertising is the power plant of our society.

MORE CUSTOMERS FOR MORE PRODUCTS—American creative genius and wonderful ability for organization have resulted in a tremendous flow of goods of all kinds. This creates a crucial need for masses of people anxious, willing and able to buy and consume these goods. Only a society with a constantly rising standard of living can provide the customers. These customers have to be sought, taught and often persuaded to move higher in the scale of living. This is the job of advertising.

Advertising not only gives people news about new products, but provides the urge for people to own and enjoy these products. The wider and deeper the penetration of our products into the life of America, the greater the need for more production. This means more jobs. More jobs mean more people able to enjoy what we make. More people buying means more, still more production. And so on and so on. The result is that more Americans can enjoy more of the fruits of their labor than people in any country anywhere in the world can enjoy theirs.

ADVERTISING LOWERS PRICES—Does advertising raise the cost of goods? On the contrary. Through newspapers, television, magazines, radio and billboards, an advertiser can talk to a prospect for a tiny fraction of a cent. Advertising is the quickest and cheapest way of reaching large numbers of people. It enables the advertiser to reach his market (customers) inexpensively and thus increase his total production, thereby reducing the cost of making and selling each unit.

THE CULTURAL EFFECTS OF ADVERTISING — It's because of advertising that our mass media of communication can afford to command the finest talent for bringing to the American people information, stimulation, entertainment and education which in other countries are available to just a very few people.

Advertising makes its cultural contribution in another way. Advertising is in large measure responsible for better living, less drudgery, more leisure for more people. This creates opportunities for intellectual and spiritual activities equaled in few, if any, other countries. While millions and millions of dollars are being spent by Americans for cars, boats, sports equipment and the paraphernalia of leisure, there is a growing hunger for improvement of the mind and for aesthetic enjoyment.

WHAT ARE THE "NEEDS" OF THE PEOPLE?—Critics of advertising sometimes indict it for creating dissatisfaction in people's minds with what they have, and persuading and cajoling them into buying what they neither need nor want. But what are "needs?" The "needs" of people in undeveloped countries are not the same as our needs. Our needs of 50 years ago are not the same as they are today. We don't actually "need" electric razors, electric refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, television sets, shampoos, beauty treatments, packaged goods, or even automobiles. But would the critics of advertising stop encouraging people to want a better life? Would they have the millions of people who create, produce, and market the so-called "non-essentials" thrown out of jobs? Do they want us to go back to the more primitive living of other countries?

ADVERTISING — PUBLIC SERVANT—Frequently, the advertising industry is called on to direct public-service jobs—for the Government as well as for private public-service organizations. This it does through the Advertising Council, a non-profit organization supported by American business and advertising media. Here's what President Eisenhower said to the Advertising Council in Washington several months ago:

"For eighteen years you have been stimulating the nation's conscience in areas where the voluntary work of great numbers of people has been necessary in order to promote worthwhile causes. I know you have been in such fields as conservation, organized charities, safety, prevention of accidents, and more recently in giving your efforts to the job of pointing out to our people the need for self-discipline if we are to avoid debasement of our currency and prevent inflation.

"And I think no other body has done more in this regard in trying to inform America across the board of these things than The Advertising Council."

Reports On Suppression Of Natives

RT. REV. Richard Ambrose Reeves, Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, South Africa, recently told the story of suppression of the natives of South Africa to more than 200 people in Cathredal Church of Nativity, Bethlehem.

The bishop warned that the white people of the world face a revolution in their status. "The day of domination of the economic, social and all aspects of life by the white is rapidly coming to an end," he said.

"Time is running out very quickly for white supremacy and we must face up to the situation and find ways and means of adjusting," he continued.

"It is very important," he said, "that America set its own house in order, racially speaking."

Not Just Racial

The unrest in South Africa is not due entirely to the racial problems, but mainly to unbearable economic conditions, the bishop reported. Out of the nine million native Africans now living in South Africa, he said, more than 2½ million are urban dwellers. They are of the second and third generation and are westernized, he pointed out.

The South African government consistently behaves as if these urban Africans were still primitive tribal people and gives them no say in their own affairs, Bishop Reeves said. He explained that no land in any town or city can be owned by a native African. They must live in separate sections under white law, he said.

Go Flying On Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Follweiler, who were married 30 years ago Thanksgiving Day in an airplane circling a Pennsylvania airport, celebrated this anniversary by flying.

"We were married in an airplane 30 years ago, and we've been up in the air ever since," said Mrs. Follweiler as they left Idlewild Airport for San Juan and the Virgin Islands.

Their home is at Allentown, Pa. They were married in a five-passenger, single-engine plane over Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport in 1930.

Follweiler, 52, is an insurance agent. He said he had got interested in aircraft when he was 16 and has been up in everything from gliders to jets.

Their 10th anniversary was celebrated with a flight in a twin-engine plane to New York and in 1955 they celebrated with a flight to Bermuda.

"I hope we will be able to celebrate our 35th anniversary in a space ship," Mrs. Follweiler said. "That wouldn't frighten us at all."

New Life For Foreign Doctors

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly 2,500 foreign physicians who failed to pass qualifying examinations in the United States two months ago can avoid deportation if U. S. hospitals set up a special educational program for them.

The American Medical Association announced the plan yesterday. The plan, the AMA said, was worked out through agreement with the State Department, the American Hospital Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges.

The Daily Investor

Questions About AT&T

By William A. Doyle

Q. Approximately how many people own stock in American Telephone & Telegraph Co.?

A. The latest available figures show that AT&T is owned by 1,737,000 shareholders. It is the most widely owned of all stocks. This is reflected by the fact that I get more questions about AT&T than about any other stock.

Q. Is most of the AT&T stock held by a great many people who own a small number of shares or by a lesser number of people who own large amounts?

A. Most of the stock is owned by small investors. At the end of 1959, 16 per cent of the shareholders owned 10 shares or less; 25 per cent of the shareholders owned from 11 to 30 shares. As a matter of fact, more than half of the shareholders owned 45 shares or less.

The largest number held by one individual accounted for only one-thirtieth of one percent of 223,349,039 shares outstanding at the end of last year.

The largest stockholder account held about one per cent of the outstanding stock. Those shares were held (probably still are) by a big investment company. So, those shares were indirectly owned by the tens of thousands of shareholders of the investment company.

Q. What is the easiest way for a person who is not an AT&T employee to buy some AT&T stock?

A. Order it through a brokerage firm. If you don't know a broker, ask your bank to arrange the purchase for you. AT&T stock is traded on the New York, Boston, Philadelphia-Baltimore, Midwest, Pacific Coast, Cincinnati, Detroit and Pittsburgh Stock Exchanges and the Paris Bourse.

Q. How much does it cost to buy AT&T stock?

A. That depends on the trading price at the time your order is executed. So far in 1960, this stock was traded at prices varying from 79 ⅞ ($79.87½ a share) to 97 ⅝ ($97.62½ a share). As this is written, AT&T's market price is getting up near its high for the year.

Q. I heard that AT&T had a profit of around a billion dollars in 1959. Was that money paid in dividends to stockholders?

A. AT&T had a net profit of $1,113,152,000 last year. This figured out to $5.22 on each of the average number of AT&T shares outstanding during 1959.

Dividends of $3.30 a share were paid last year. The rest of the profits were retained by the company and put back to work. Very few corporations pay equal to their earnings. Most plow back some of their profits for expansion, modernization of factories, etc.

AT&T's earnings have been rising. The dividend payout was increased in 1959, when the stock was split three-for-one. It is generally expected that there will be more dividend increases in the future.

When? I have no idea. My crystal ball clouds up on that one.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

South Wayne Airs Joining Possible Union, Jointure

NEWFOUNDLAND — The possibility of entering into a jointure or union district agreement on the administrative level with Salem, Lake and South Canaan Townships was discussed by the directors of Southern Wayne Joint School during the November meeting. Harold D. Lee presided.

The board will attend a special meeting at Hamlin on December 3 at 8:30 p.m.. to give further consideration to the problem. The State is urging formation of one unit in Southern Wayne County.

Claude Butler, Dreher Township board member, proposed taking measures to protect students walking to school along Route 90. "School—Slow" signs will be placed on the highway and a police patrol will be set up, it was decided.

Leland Cramer, supervising principal reported that repairs to the roof have been completed. He discussed State reimbursement for the new fire tower and noted that funds set aside for this have already been exhausted and that additional funds must be secured by the State Council of Education before re-imbursement is possible. He has asked Representatives Wall and Scott to push legislation on measures to facilitate this action.

Cafeteria Improvements

There was a discussion of new or renewed table tops in the cafeteria. It was agreed that provision for this work will be made in the 1961-62 budget.

Carroll Fetherman, president of the Parent Teacher Association, and Mrs. Albert Gilpin, secretary, were welcomed by the board. Mr. Fetherman explained that the PTA has appointed two representatives to attend school board sessions each month "in order that we may better understand the problems facing the board."

Directors on hand for the meeting were Dr. Robert Rochfort, Harold Lee, Arthur Rigby, Lawrence Grimm, Claude Butler, Claude Smith, Fred McLain, J. Robert Burdick, Fred Hart and Hubert Hutchins.

Bloodmobile Will Visit N'fld Nov. 30

The bloodmobile will be at the post home from 3 to 7 p.m. The post will have charge of securing donors; the auxiliary will have charge of the canteen and will serve dinner to the workers. Mrs. Robert Staph heads the canteen; Mrs. Robert Rochfort, the dinner.

57 Paid Up

It was noted during the meeting that there are 57 paid up members of the auxiliary to date. Membership is open to those eligible, and any woman interested my contact Mrs. Rochfort or Mrs. Peet.

All members were asked to bring comfort articles for the Wilkes-Barre Veterans Hospital to the December 6 meeting at the legion hall.

Veteran N'fld. Scoutmaster Wangum District Chairman

NEWFOUNDLAND—Richard McLain, veteran scoutmaster who has served nearly 30 years as leader of Newfoundland Troop One, has been elected chairman of Wangum District, Boy Scouts of America. He succeeds Sam Shair, of Honesdale.

Officers will be installed on December 1 at the annual dinner to be held in the Lutheran Church parlors in Honesdale. Paul T. Ryder, Wayne County superintendent of schools, will be toastmaster, and Irwin Scullin, deputy regional scout executive, will be the speaker.

Cited By Community

McLain has been honored by the Newfoundland Rotary Club for his service to the youth of the community, and is an honorary life member of the club.

3 Hitchhikers Die In Accident

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Three Western Pennsylvania servicemen hitchhiking home for the holiday were killed Thursday as a truck rammed the rear of the car in which they were riding.

The pre-dawn accident occurred on the Lehigh Valley thruway nine miles west of here.

Dead at the scene were Antonio Magana Jr., 21, of McKeesport, and Donald Henderson, 27, of Leechburg R.D. 3.

Their companion, also hitchhiking from Fort Devens, Mass., Henry Plummer, 19, of Sidman, R.D., died several hours later at Allentown General Hospital.

State police said they had just gotten in a car operated by Paul Dugan, 21, of Morann, and it was starting up when the truck hit it.

Dugan also was hospitalized. The truck driver, Amos L. Manor, 51, of Pittsburgh, escaped injury. Investigators quoted him as saying the car had stopped on the roadway instead of pulling off.

Fire Forces 40 To Flee

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Fire raged through a four-story electronics plant in Upland Township early yesterday, routing about 40 persons from an adjoining apartment house.

As the people fled in their nightclothing large stocks of television picture tubes, stored in the plant, exploded from the heat, and smoke billowed over the area.

A general alarm mobilized more than 200 firemen from eight companies, who worked for 2½ hours to control the flames.

The fire broke out in the Supreme Electronics Co. plant, a 100-year-old stone building that used to be a sawmill and a textile mill. The firm rebuilds used TV tubes. It opened the plant several months ago.

Fire department officials said the blaze apparently started on the top floor and spread both through the roof and downward. Its exact cause had not been determined. Nor was there an immediate estimate of damage.

State Flower Grows In Brazil

HARRISBURG (AP) — The mountain laurel, Pennsylvania's official state flower, is growing in Brasilia, exotic capital city of Brazil.

It was planted by Gov. Lawrence in a tree-planting ceremony in Brasilia's Presidential Mall as part of a two-week goodwill tour of Brazil and Argentina by American Governors.

Lawrence's office here said today the mountain laurel was substituted in the ceremony for the hemlock, Pennsylvania's official tree, which could not survive in Brasilia's climate.

A bronze plaque identifies the flower as Pennsylvania's contribution to the ceremony.

ANTICIPATION—gleams from the faces of Patricia Muller, 3; and her sister, Dorothy, 5, before Thanksgiving dinner at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Muller Jr., South Sterling. Today's a different story for most over-fed local residents: turkey hash and bicarobnate of soda, but also the feeling that it was well worth it.

Just Between Us——

One of the annual mysteries of life is how the same people who groaned on Thanksgiving afternoon, they could never eat again are so hungry on Friday noon. As a matter of fact before the Thanksgiving dinner dishes are put away everybody seems to come poking around picking the turkey bones and further demolishing the fruit centerpiece.

Anyway, it was a wonderful holiday for me without most of the family meeting at State College for the dinner of the century. Funny how things change—when the children were small and Thanksgiving was at Grandma's the grown-ups crowded the festive board and the grandchildren ate at a side-table. This year with the grandchildren so big and so many they shared the big table with their grandparents while their parents were banished to the sidelines.

It was very peaceful that way—at least nobody had to cut up our meat—yet, that is. The weather couldn't have been more perfect — and the long ride that had become so familiar during their college years took on a fresh outlook. It was good to see again the eight-sided house outside of Danville and debate whether the rooms inside would be pie-shaped; to see the private railroad with its funny little engine running between Berwick and Bloomsburg; to marvel again at the round barn outside State College.

But State College itself was sort of reminiscent of "On the Beach" with nary a student in sight which made it wonderful for driving around. I felt a little guilty, missing the Battle of the Boroughs, but after hearing the score, I sadly surmised that one more yell wouldn't have turned the tide or made that tie I was betting on possible.

Well, it didn't seem to make anyone lose his appetite—which reminds me—what is there to eat in the refrigerator when you've eaten Thanksgiving dinner at somebody else's house?

Dance-Buffet To Brighten Yule Holidays For College Students On Dec. 30

Timed to break while local college students are home on vacation, the news of two special guests at the Holiday College Dance and Buffet has been announced by the committee in charge.

The dance will be held on Friday, Dec. 30, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel for all young adults of college age in the community, and will feature an orchestra and a midnight buffet. It will be semi-formal and, the committee emphasized, may be attended with or without dates.

The first such affair was held last year and proved a great success with some 137 students from 41 different colleges attending. The same committee, headed by Mrs. J. S. Swartley and Mrs. W. S. Anderson, is functioning with the addition of other parents of this year's college freshmen.

Again this year, in order to keep the party within student budgets, the price of the tickets is being kept to a minimum and the difference is being supplied by adult patrons.

In order to get the party off to a good start the committee has invited two special guests with a warmth guaranteed to thaw any social ice before it has a chance to form: Sally Ferrebee, radio personality and director of Laurel Time festivities with the Laurel Princesses; and Tom Waring, composer, musician and master of ceremonies deluxe.

The only thing college students now home on vacation need to do is to make a mental note of the date and to plan to attend.

Goodbye, Turkey! HELLO, SANTA!

That, in a nutshell, (a walnut nutshell . . . left over from yesterday's feasting) is the story of today. In many a home there'll be turkey croquettes on tonight's dinner table . . . but conversation will center around the thrilling train ride enjoyed this morning by the children. For, even as you read the newspaper over your breakfast, bright-eyed tots and their parents will be hustling to the Erie-Lackawanna Station to ride on Wyckoff's Christmas Train to Gouldsboro where they'll meet Santa, who is flying in from the North Pole.

We're truly sorry that the 1200 tickets went so quickly . . . but they did. However, those who haven't them, may see Santa at 11:45 when his train returns with him to the station. And, after two o'clock, children may bring him their gift lists as he holds court in Wyckoff's Toyland.

Oh, these are wonderful days for the young, and young in heart! I'm told that Tuesday evening our Wyckoff telephone line, direct to the North Pole, carried 910 telephone calls. Santa was thrilled to talk with all his little friends . . . but, poor Old Fellow, he must really be a weary one! When I see how the minutes slip through my fingers, and I never seem to accomplish a third of those things I've planned to do, I wonder how Santa can possibly answer letters . . . talk to hundreds of children . . . keep the reindeers in tow (that Rudolph is quite a problem I hear—always poking his red nose into places it shouldn't be!) . . . make fifty million toys . . . and still keep smiling.

I console myself by thinking what a hefty fellow Santa is. "No wonder he can accomplish so much more," I tell myself. "There's more of him than there is of you."

Well, I told myself that before YESTERDAY. I'm almost afraid to compare us now. If there's much more Thanksgiving feasting and pre-Christmas munching, Santa will look emaciated in comparison. I think I'll ask for Metrecal in my Christmas stocking.

Oh . . . for heaven's sake, doesn't that look delicious! FRESH DATES from our Wyckoff candy department . . . and just look at those adorable, ruffle-cupped individual fruit cakes. Light or dark—two for 35c.

So what if I am bigger than Santa? I'll just get a bigger red coat with ermine trim. Why should I worry? Only SANTA has to go down chimneys . . . all I need do is squeeze through a door.

* * *

Guess I did mention some days ago that we have more of those delightful wobbly-bobble-headed dolls from Japan in our gift department, didn't I? They are precious as stocking stuffers, and come in quite a variety. There are the little girl and boy dolls we gave the college freshmen at our Coke Party this fall. There are sirenish, tall, thin-limbed gals with earrings and bright lips. There are fat, pudgy dolls. Quite an array really—all of wood, hand painted, and all with heads that bob in animated conversation or vigorous argument. I love them, and so will YOU and the children.

* * *

My children never tire of receiving pens as gifts, and I notice our stationery department has a big selection in a wide price range. Fact is, our stationery department has marvelous gift ideas for everyone . . . photograph albums, playing cards, best sellers, paperbacks, scrapbooks, diaries, Bibles, all kinds of letter and note papers, jigsaw puzzles, crayons, children's books in all price ranges, as well as the pretty cards and wrapping papers that make any gift "extra special."

PUC Approves D&H Signals

HARRISBURG (AP) — Installation of automatic signals and gates at three Delaware & Hudson Railroad crossings in Olyphant has been approved by the Public Utility Commission.

The automatic equipment will replace watchman-operated gates at the East Grant Street and North Valley Avenue crossings. But the railroad was directed to maintain a watchman at track level and the South Valley Avenue intersection between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., daily except Sunday.

Objections to the changes were lodged by the borough and its school district.

The installation must be completed by Dec. 1, 1961.

LYING DOWN ON THE JOB—Stroud Union halfback Glen Bisbing (26) barely missed this pass in the first half of the Inter-Borough game. Cavalier defender Brian Farris (left) tipped the ball but Bisbing couldn't hold on to it. The photos of the Inter-borough game were taken by Daily Record photographer Rod MacLeod, using a 35 mm camera with a telephoto lens.

MYERS GETS MORE — East Stroudsburg fullback Harold (Mach 2) Myers bulls for yardage, as he carries unidentified Stroud Union defender with him. Myers was voted the outstanding player in the game. He scored 21 points and gained 170 yards in 13 carries. Only three weeks ago Myers suffered a cracked rib that forced him to wear a protective pad Thursday. Warren Loney (11) is on ground at left.

FIRST FUMBLE—Loose football goes temporarily unnoticed as Stroud Union halfback Glen Bisbing (26) is brought down on opening kickoff return. Bisbing returned the kick to his own 39 where he was hit. The ball popped loose and was recovered by Mike Boushell. Players identifiable in the picture are Jim Steele (47) and Jim Farry (70). It was the first of six Mountaineer fumbles.

The pass from center on the extra point attempt rolled on the ground and Nevil's conversion attempt was partially blocked.

It was 21-6 then and it appeared that Baylor and the Mounties might make a run for the Little Brown Jug.

But Myers spilled the Mountie water out of the jug one play later. Another onsides kick was picked off by Jack Van Horn, who returned it to the Stroud Union 35.

Myers roared off right tackle for the touchdown and then rushed for the extra point. Four plays later East Stroudsburg put the ball in play on its own 35. The Cavaliers ran the same play off left tackle and 65-yards later Myers achieved the same result.

Seven Man Line

Stroud Union used a seven man line throughout most of the game, with a lone linebacker. It was the same defensive alignment that it used last year against East Stroudsburg to gain a 6-6 tie.

But this year the Cavaliers were ready.

"We practiced against that defense all week," said Cavalier coach Jack Kist after the middle of the line bunched. East Stroudsburg picked on the ends and tackles but still had to depend on crisp blocks to spring its backs.

Tackles Bud Stann and Patella opened more holes than the East Stroudsburg sewer project.

But it was a pass not a run that broke the game open says Kist.

With a 7-0 lead midway through the first period, Fellman faked a handoff to Myers and the big fullback slammed ahead and went down. For a brief second it appeared that the Mounties had finally contained Myers.

Sideline Tag

Fellman, however, had the ball and floated a 32-yard scoring pass to Van Vliet . Fellman tried only three more passes and connected on another touchdown heave, this time a 63-yarder to halfback Jim Steele, who played tag with the sideline for 40-yards.

Fellman, who twisted his ankle in the Port Jervis game, was under orders from Kist not to run the ball. He did managed to squeeze in a one-yard carry on the belly series and scored a defensive touchdown.

In the fourth quarter Schatzman rammed for a short gain and was tackled on the arms by two Cavaliers. The ball popped loose and Fellman grabbed it in the air and ran 37-yards for the score. He also carried for the conversion attempt. Fellman normally kicks the Cavaliers' extra points but the ankle injury vetoed the kicking route.

Baylor, who played his last game for Stroud Union, turned in his best performance of the year. His passes were the biggest threat the Mounties produced and accounted for six first downs. Baylor also gained good yardage on quarterback sneaks but his rushing average suffered, because he was thrown for losses on several pass attempts.

Baylor got brilliant pass protection in the first half and he used it to good advantage, completing his first three passes. Mounties' coach Walt Bjorn called the first half protection "as good as any he has seen in high school."

Myers, a junior, was voted the game's outstanding player by a seven man press and radio group covering the game. He tallied every vote.

Farris and Metzgar were announced as the Cavalier co-captains for next year before the game. Stroud Union will not pick its captains until next year.

The 48 points registered by East Stroudsburg are the largest number in the 16 meetings of the schools. And the 42 point spread equalled the difference mark set in the first game in 1945, 42-0.

Bangor Tops Pen Argyl On Reimer's 3 Romps

By Armon Williams

BANGOR — Long runs turned the Slate Belt Classic into one of the wildest games ever at Bangor Memorial Park Stadium yesterday afternoon but Bangor High was the master of the "Big Play" and went on to defeat Pen Argyl High for the fourth straight year, 31-12, before 5,000 onlookers.

Leo Reimer, unrelenting Maroon halfback, sparked the avalanche with a trio of touchdown trips from way out, in the come-from-behind victory that was an 18-12 halftime tossup.

The contest's single grinding drive, set in motion by Dave Lambert's recovery of Phil Falcone's fumble, provided the Green Knights with first blood but after that it was breakaway action with Bangor in the saddle.

Air Grab

Lambert, fielding the ball in mid-air at the line of scrimmage, picked up six yards to Bangor's 37 and then Pen Argyl surged goalwood. Ed Roberts and Steve Williams, in four carries, claimed a first down on the 26. Bill Hewett, slashing tackle twice and also accepting a 10-yard pass from Roberts after one failure, fashioned another on the 13. Then Williams and Hewett barged to the three and Roberts, on a quick lineup, flashed through center. Sig Guarry's placement missed the mark.

Bangor struck back with the kickoff. Falcone returned 17 to the 36 and Bobby Dawe and the Reimer cousins, Bun and Leo, crossed over to Pen Argyl's 37 in two first downs where, on last down with nine needed, Dawe skirted right end and raced the distance behind field-clearing blocking. Falcone's placement failed, leaving the score locked at 6-6.

A lightning bolt followed and Bangor was on the road to success. On the first play after Roberts' 11-yard runback of the kickoff, Hewett bobbled at the line of scrimmage and Falcone snatched the loose pigskin and breezed 23 to a touchdown. Again the point bid by placement went wide.

Move Ahead

Bangor moved ahead by another six points midway in the second when a punting exchange was terminated suddenly by Leo Reimer's spectacular 65-yard gallop, after he grabbed Jim Ceraul's boot. The placement try was blocked and Bangor, guilty of a personal foul, was penalized 15 yards in kicking off.

This tee-off, with Hewett's classy 37-yard return, gave the Green possession on Bangor's 42. Roberts' six-yard pass to Tom DePue and short ground gains by Hewett and Williams advanced the ball to the 29 where Johnny Johnson, on a reverse, reeled off right end for the tally untouched. Roberts' pitch on a fake placement was grounded.

Bangor started constructing a cushion in the third, again in bizarre fashion. Dawe forced the door by intercepting Roberts' deflected line pass on the Green's 34 and Leo Reimer immediately went through it in a charge off tackle that shook off one defender after the other. Dawe's flip for the conversion on a placement formation was incomplete.

Reimer Again

Reimer hit the headlines again early in the fourth, wrapping up production. Once more, on first down after Barry Warrick's recovery of Hewett's fumble won the initiative, he slipped off tackle and through a host of opponents for 34 yards and a payoff. Falcone converted with a placement for the final 31-12 score.

The win gives Bangor permanent possession of The Daily Record football trophy. The award is made to the winner of the mythical Pocono-Slate Belt League of Bangor, Pen Argyl, Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg.

Bangor has won the trophy now three years in a row, including a tie with Pen Argyl last year. A new trophy will be put in circulation next year.

Bangor was 3-0 in the trophy race, dropping East Stroudsburg, Stroud Union and Pen Argyl. East Stroudsburg was second 2-1, followed by Pen Argyl 1-2 and Stroud Union 0-3.

West Captures Gem City Bowl

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Gordon Bukaty of Buffalo University sparked the East team to a 27-26 victory over the West Thursday in the third annual Gem City football bowl.

Bukaty plunged a yard for one touchdown and tossed two scoring passes to Nick Anzelmi of George Washington — one for 15 yards and another for 10.

Mike Scatena of St. Vincent (Pa.) College scored the other East touchdown on a 51-yard pass from Charles Packen of George Washington.

Cooper Scores

Bill Cooper of Muskingum scored the West's first TD oh a one-yard plunge, and Al Faunce of Northwestern tallied the second on an eight-yard run. The West got its last two touchdowns on passes from Ron Costello of Xavier. He hit Steve McClellan of Wooster with a 15-yarder. With only 2:45 left in the game, Costello got off a 60-yard scoring play with a pass off a triple reverse to Jim Mullen of Xavier.

The West tried to run for the extra two points that would have put them ahead but were stopped short of the goal.

Dick Wolslayer and Sterling Brown of East Stroudsburg State College played for the West team. The pair were originally scheduled to play for the East but were switched when the West did not have enough linemen.

Brown played the entire game as an offensive guard and did the kicking off.

Wolslayer was only in on eight plays but he made two tackles and knocked the interference out on two other plays.

Wolslayer played defensive guard and linebacker. All the players in the game received gold footballs.

Pair Tied In Mobile Pro Golf

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Veteran Freddie Haas and young Jon Gustin came in late with 6-under-par 66s and tied for the lead in the opening round of the Mobile Open Golf Tournament Thursday.

The 44-year-old Haas, who plays only infrequently on the pro circuit, toured the 6,900-yard, par 36-36—72 Mobile municipal course in 32-34—66.

Gustin, who is 28, carded a 33-33—66.

Haas, of New Orleans, hasn't won a tournament in almost seven years. Gustin, playing out of Gladwyne, Pa., has never won one.

Palmer Close

Others in the 68 bracket: Jerry Pittman, Tulsa, Okla; Johnny Pott, Shreveport, La.; Gene Mitchell, Lubbock, Tex.; Gay Brewer Jr., Crystal River, Fla.; Dave Hill, Denver, Colo.; and Frank Boynton, Orlando, Fla.

At 69 were Howie Johnson and Marty Furgol, both of Cog Hill, Ill., and Tony Lema, San Leandro, Calif.

Toronto Wants AL Team

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility that Toronto might replace Los Angeles in the muddled American League expansion plans cropped up again Thursday in the wake of indications the National League will reject the alternate proposal of nine-team interlocking schedules in 1961.

First reported by The Associated Press a week ago, the Toronto idea had gained credence with a statement from Commissioner Ford Frick that the baseball law requiring notice by Oct. 31 for moving into minor league territory the following season did not apply in Toronto's case.

"That rule applies only to when an outside group wants to step in and acquire minor league territory," Frick said. "In this case Jack Kent Cooke, who owns the (Toronto) International League franchise, simply would be transferring it to a major league.

Has Territory

"In that case, he does not have to acquire any territory. He already has it. He therefore would have to indemnify only the International League for the loss of its Toronto member."

The assumption is that the embattled American League would turn to Toronto only if the National League refuses its nine-team proposal at its vote Dec. 5 in St. Louis and if Walter O'Malley, owner of the NL Dodgers, continues to oppose AL plans to go into Los Angeles in 1961.

Lions Rap Green Bay With Passes

DETROIT (AP)—Jim Ninowski swept the title-hopeful Green Bay Packers off their feet with a devastating first half passing attack that started the Detroit Lions toward a 23-10 victory today in the National Football League's annual Thanksgiving Day clash.

Ninowski's passing—he completed 14 of 22 for 180 yards in the first half—coupled with Green Bay blunders shoved the in and out Lions into a 16-0 lead that nullified the Packers' brief second half flurry.

Capacity Crowd

A capacity crowd of 54,123 and a national television audience witnessed the twenty-first holiday clash between these long-time rivals.

The defeat seriously crippled Green Bay's western division title chances, Trailing division-leading Baltimore by one game going into today's contest, the Packers now have dropped into third place behind the Chicago Bears.

E-Burg Backs, Mountaineers' Spirit Impresses Coach Gregory

By JACK GREGORY
East Stroudsburg State College Football Coach

A NORMAL ball game between a club that has lost nine games in a row and a team that has only dropped three out of nine should cause very little commotion. But, as everyone in our communities realizes, the "Battle of the Boros" is not a normal ball game.

It is a game that brings out the outstanding efforts by all players involved; a game that stirs the complete communities for weeks ahead of time, a game that is considered one of the top, if not the top, sporting event of the year. The 1960 "Battle of the Boros" proved no exception.

Playing before a capacity crowd and in perfect football weather, the fine football team from East Stroudsburg rode in high gear and put on possibly the best high school offensive show that most football fans in this area have seen in many years.

Hard Running

The hard running of Harold Myers, Brian Farris, and Jim Steele plus the timely passing and very good field generalship of Jack Fellman kept the Stroudsburg defense off balance throughout the day.

Although Myers was very powerful up the middle and over the dive hole (tackle hole) throughout the game, it appeared to be Eastburg's ability to get to the outside that kept its offense moving at full speed.

Fellman did not throw the ball very often throughout the game, but his first pass to Harry Van Vliet, which resulted in a TD was a beauty. Also, his first pass in the second half to Steele, which covered 62 yards for a TD was another gem.

John Baylor, who gave it his all throughout the game, did his best to keep the Mountaineers in the game with his throwing arm. At the beginning of the game he completed the first three passes he threw and throughout the game his passing was the main threat of his club.

Myers Impressive

Like most of the very large crowd, I was impressed with the running ability of Myers. This boy has good speed plus the size which makes him a dangerous back on the inside. Having another year of high school football remaining, Harold could develop into a most sensational ball player.

One thing is most important, and I am sure coach Jack Kist has told Harold this many times, he cannot rest on the laurels of his junior year. He must work harder than ever in 1961 in order to accomplish the aims and goals that he and his team will want to reach.

Aside from the job that the hard running backs did for East Stroudsburg, a hardy 'pat on the back' should go to the men up front. Each and every one of them did a real good job and should feel mighty proud of their efforts. I do believe the job that the tackles, Vince Patella and Bud Stann, did was most outstanding, as some of the holes that they opened, looked big enough for a truck to fit through.

Congratulations are also in store for coach Kist and his most able staff for the fine job they did in getting their club ready for this big game.

In most cases it would be difficult to write much about the club that was on the bottom end of a 48 to 6 score but I strongly believe the Stroudsburg boys displayed a fighting spirit of which any coach would be proud and happy to have on his squad. Although there was very little doubt in the outcome of the game once Eastburg started to move, there was no sign of a let up on the field.

Mounties Praised

Each time Stroud Union got the ball they were shooting for the long one so that they would have a chance to get back into the game. Fumbles (mostly caused by good, hard tackling) hurt Stroudsburg throughout the game but they never stopped fighting.

Coach Walt Bjorn and his staff kept trying to help the boys throughout and along with the boys, did their very best to make it a good game.

I must say that I can't help feeling a little sorry for the seniors on the Stroud Union Club. To the seniors like Baylor and Gary Reish, this was the end of their high school football careers. I am sure that they wanted it to end on a bright note but even though they went through a most dismal season, I am positive that they learned many lessons that will help them to meet and overcome many problems and troubles that they will help them to meet and overcome many problems and troubles that they will have to face in life's bumpy road.

The game of football is so similar to the game of life that it would seem a philosopher invented it. It is a group situation whereby the group is pitted against another similar group to overcome barriers and emerge victorious.

Also, as in life, some of the barriers a person must meet may be more difficult to overcome than others. Although the Mountaineers may feel down in the dumps now, I am sure the spirit which they displayed will help them be victorious in the future.

It has been my observation that boys who achieve greatness in football are strong on competitive desire (determination), confidence, and courage. I feel that each of these qualities was displayed often throughout the Turkey Day game by the boys who will be the future leaders of our communities.

Being a comparable rookie to the "Battle of the Boros," I was very impressed with the tremendous interest and following of the game. It is a game which both communities should be proud of, as well as being proud of the boys and men who participate in the playing and running of the game.

Texas, Penn, Head Slim List Of Turkey Champs

By The Associated Press

GAMES rich in tradition spiced a slim Thanksgiving Day program for the nation's colleges, and although upsets in such contests are the rule rather than the exception, only one which might be considered major was achieved.

VMI, with a 6-2-1 record and already assured the Southern Conference championship, was defeated by Virginia Tech 13-12. Tech had a 5-4 record before the kickoff.

The ancient Texas-Texas A&M rivalry saw Texas in a battle for survival after nearly blowing a 21-0 halftime lead. The Longhorns finally won 21-14, and immediately accepted a bid to play in the Bluebonnet game Dec. 17 at Houston against a still unnamed opponent, possibly Alabama.

Swan Song

Penn and Cornell, Ivy League rivals of long standing, met in Philadelphia in what proved to be a sad swan song for Cornell Coach Lefty James. James was fired, a decision reached before his team lost to the Quakers 18-7.

Denver's sophomore quarterback, Ramiro Escandon, set all kinds of school records in leading his team to a 21-12 Skyline Conference victory over Colorado State. Richmond performed smoothly on the ground and in the air in blanking William and Mary 19-0. And Wichita, Missouri Valley Conference champion, romped over West Texas State 31-14.

Among the smaller colleges Lenoir Rhyne, No. 2 in The Associated Press small college poll, crushed Catawba 56-6 for its sixth straight North State Conference football title and a possible trip to the Holiday Bowl at St. Petersburg, Fla. It was Lenoir Rhyne's fifth straight unbeaten season.

CALLED BACK—Tackle Vince Patella races into the end zone for an apparent score for East Stroudsburg in yesterday's Turkey Day Game at Memorial Stadium. But the officials rules that Patella had picked up an incompleted pass not a fumble. Bob Nonnemaker chases Patella.

Late Benefit Game Planned

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—In order to aid the United Fund the Philadelphia Eagles and the National Football League have waived a rule preventing telecast of a league game on the day of the game in the same city in which it is being played.

The league and the Eagles—the home team in this case—will allow a delayed telecast (WCAU-TV) of Sunday's Eastern Conference game between the leading Philadelphia club and the second place New York Giants. The game has been a sellout for more than a week.

Each viewer of the telecast at 11:15 (est) Sunday night is being asked to contribute $1.00 to the United Fund to help make up a $324,000 deficit in the 1961 drive which ended last Tuesday night.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A task force of 50 to 60 policemen is being detailed to duty at Franklin Field Sunday to guard against outbreaks of unrestrained enthusiasm by football fans.

The Philadelphia Eagles play the New York Giants then, and already the stadium, with 60,000 capacity, is sold out.

Police Commissioner Albert N. Brown said Tuesday his orders came straight from Mayor Richardson Dilworth. The mayor has been disturbed by reports of fans tumbling onto the field and ripping down goal posts after Eagles victories.

Titans Whip Dallas

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Dorow threw for two touchdowns, ran for one and set up two more with passes today as the New York Titans celebrated Thanksgiving Day at the Polo Grounds with a 41-35 victory over Dallas. It was the highest scoring game of the year in the American Football League.

A slim crowd of 14,344 saw the balding Dorow lead the Titans out of a four-game losing streak with 21 completions of 36 passes, good for 301 yards, in their final home game.

Don Maynard, the Titans' fleet-footed end, caught 10 of Dorow's heaves for 179 yards and one touchdown. Art Powell, the other half of the Titans' pass-catching ends, grabbed eight for 110 yards. He also scored once.

Backs Dewey Bohling, Roger Donnahoo, and Bill Mathis also scored touchdowns for the Titans, Donnahoo's coming on a 57-yard run with a recovered fumble. Bill Shockley converted five of his six extra point attempts.

A Most Expensive Grab Bag

THE NEW WASHINGTON entry in the American League will soon get a chance to take part in a $75,000 a shot grab bag.

The original fleecing was supposed to include Los Angeles, but the League decided to hold off on a Los Angeles franchise for two years, which is probably the best break Los Angeles could receive.

The plan was for each American League club to put 15 players in a pool, with seven to be picked by the two new entries. Originally 16 players were to go on the list but when it was cut by one, The New York Yankees promptly dropped Gil McDougald's name from the list.

So now the Washington club will have to go it alone. The club is obligated to pick 28 players at $75,000 a crack, which adds up to more than $2 million the eight other owners will split.

Famous Stars Go At Bargain Price

And for the $75,000 the Washingtons will have the chance to pluck such well known stars as Dave Tyriver, from Cleveland; Ed Hobaugh, Chicago; Steve Dalkowski, Baltimore; Jim Fergosi, Boston; Marion Zipfel, New York; Bob Cimiron, Minneapolis; Frank Cipriani, Kansas City and Aubrey Gatewood, Detroit.

Most of these players were put on the parent club roster to protect them from the minor league draft and when the major league fat cats saw a chance to hook a fish, they threw out a $75,000 sinker.

The White Sox may be making one of the cleverest moves. The Sox paid out a $60,000 plus bonus to Dean Look last year. Look is the former Michigan State grid star.

But now Look's name is put on the grab back list. It could be that the Sox have found that Look isn't a major leaguer and they want to unload the Spartan back at a tidy profit.

Many Will Go On Waiver List

There may be several players on the lists that are worth $75,000 but most of them wouldn't bring that price if they were sold as indentured servants.

It will be interesting to see how many of the players on the list that are unclaimed, are put on the waiver list later and are not picked up, even though the waiver price is only $10,000.

The Washingtons could buy a club that might stand up for a year or two and with brisk fight might escape the cellar.

It might include Ted Kluszewski, Dick Gernert, Earl Torgeson, Dale Long at first; Ken Aspromonte, Billy Klaus, Billy Goodman, at second; Ken Hamlin, at short and Eddie Yost at third. The outfielders might be Jim Rivera, Gene Woodling, Willie Tasby, Rip Repulski, Bob Cerv, Hank Bauer. The possible catchers are Clint Courtney, Red Wilson, Pete Daley. And the pitchers might include Don Newcombe, Turk Lown, Billy Hoeft, Billy Short, Johnny James, Bob Shantz, Ned Garver and Dave Sisler.

The World's Biggest Con Game

With a good supply of tape and liniment most of the players on the list will last another two or three years.

But what the other club owners are playing with Washington is a giant "shell and pea" game similar to the one that is found in second rate carnivals.

For $75,000 the Washington owners get to look under one shell at a time only the game is slightly different than the carnival version.—There are no peas under any of the shells.
